J. G. HUNTLEY PAID FINAL HONORS BY FRIENDS

Simple But Impressive Are Funeral Services for Prominent Citizen

IN the same fine, unassuming way he had lived, John G. Huntley was buried this morning in Forest Lawn Memorial Park, where, in the beautiful Little Church of the Flowers a wealth of floral tributes and a gathering of many mourning relatives and friends bespoke love and esteem for the deceased and deep sorrow upon his passing.

As a Rotarian, Mr. Huntley was ardently devoted to the principles of that national fraternity and to his associates in the Glendale Rotary club, so it was most fitting that the Rotarians formed a guard of honor to Forest Lawn, sat in a body in the church, and Rev. Ernest Ford, the club chaplain, officiated.

Representatives Present

In addition to his membership in the Rotary club Mr. Huntley was a member of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce and the Blue Lodge and Royal Arch Masons, and these organizations were all represented by the company at the church and by the pallbearers, including Albert D. Pearce, Charles H. Toll, Daniel Campbell, Alfred F. Priest, Henry P. Goodwin, E. U. Emery, C. D. Lusby and D. L. Gregg.

Immediate relatives present were Mr. Huntley's widow, Mrs. Edith Huntley; his daughter, Miss Virginia Huntley; his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Smith; his brother-in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Myers, and family, of Santa Monica, and Mrs. Huntley's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. La-Motte Gardiner, and son, of Los Angeles.

There was a large crowd attending the funeral services, many more than could find room in the church. Practically every business in the city was represented. And, in brief, the attendance was an impressive tribute to the memory of Mr. Huntley.

Many Floral Tributes

The chancel of the church was banked high with wonderful floral tributes from friends and organizations. Among the larger

New Jail For Glendale--If You Happen To Care

GLENDALE is to have a new jail! A light court between the north and south half of the city hall is now being walled up and will be fitted up as a goal. Its dimensions, which are about four by twenty feet, are not large enough for separate cells. The space, therefore, will be used for a steel encaged "bull pen" which will be equipped with cots for four "roomers."

Col. J. D. Fraser, chief of police, regards the present cell accommodations in Fire Stations No. 1 and No. 2 very unsatisfactory. He called attention to the fact that anyone had access to them and that friends of prisoners could easily break the locks. Supplying inmates with food also entails a special trip and the consumption of considerable time by members of the department who could be utiliezd for other work.

A passageway has been cut through the masonry and will connect the new jail with the locker room of the police department. Prisoners will be under the supervision of the desk sergeant and will have access to telephones for the purpose of securing bail or legal advice.

A steel enclosure has been ordered from the east but has not yet arrived. Much of the work is being done by regular employes of the city.

REALTY DEAL IS SUICIDE CAUSE

Grieve Over Terms on Which Home Is Sold, Aged Women Seek Death

BUFFALO, June 26.—Despondent because they sold their home upon terms they later regretted is believed to be the reason for a suicide pact between two sisters, one found dead, and the other unconscious in their home here.

Miss Catherine Hitschler, about 60 years old, was dead when discovered. Her sister, Madelina, 57, was found unconscious on the kitchen floor.

Madelina said today that Catherine had been dead since last Thursday and that she herself was too weak to notify anyone as a result of drinking something Catherine gave her.

STAR WITNESS IN JULIAN CASE IS ILL

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Whether the alleged $100,000 blackmail plot against C. C. Julian, wealthy oil operator, involving three men and a girl, was to be bared today depended on the condition of Ruth Norman, star witness for the prosecution, who is reported seriously ill. The preliminary hearing was scheduled for today before Justice H. Parker Wood.

IDENTIFIED AS SLAYER OF SMALL CHILD

CHICAGO, June 26.—Detectives announced this afternoon that Frank Geralka had been identified by two witnesses as the masked killer who earlier in the afternoon broke a window pane in the Geralka home and shot dead Geralka's son, John, 3 years old.

VICTIM OF ACCIDENTAL DEATH, BELIEF

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—With authorities satisfied that Lemual Farris Van Tassel, Long Beach "bomb" victim, met his death by the accidental explosion of an oil well cap, Edward Engmann, Fullerton man, and Mrs. Beatrice Maddison, Engmann's friend, today were free.

CHICAGO AND VICINITY COOLED OFF

CHICAGO, June 26.—Fresh winds from off Lake Michigan in the wake of a terrific downpour have cooled off Chicago and vicinity, baked by eight successive days of intense heat. The mercury today was hovering in the seventies, and several days of cooler weather were in prospect.

FEAR FOR VESSEL PERILED BY FLAMES

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Relatives of passengers were frenzied and much fear for the safety of the vessel was expressed in local shipping circles today when it became known that the Dutch motor ship Dinteldyk, with ninety persons on board, was periled by flames, and was racing for Colon, Panama. Radio was silent this morning on the fate of the large motor ship.

DENIES WRITING POISON PEN LETTERS

NEW YORK, June 26.—A complete denial of guilt to the charge of authorship of a series of poison pen letters directed against prominent New York society women was entered by George B. Maxwell, president of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers today when he appeared before Justice M. Koenig in general sessions.

REFUSES JOYRIDE, WOMAN SHOT TO DEATH

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, June 26.—Refusal to accept an invitation for a joyride resulted in the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson of Dallas here today. Mrs. Jackson was shot and almost instantly killed in a pistol duel with G. C. Taylor, 30, and married, as she descended the stairway of an apartment house owned and operated by Taylor in which she had been a tenant since Monday. Taylor is held by the police charged with murder.

EULALIA SITE URGED FOR S.P. DEPOT

Mass Meeting Decides to Have Committee Visit Road Officials

Preparedness was the keynote of last night's pro-Eulalia street mass meeting, held in the Magnolia Avenue school, under the auspices of the Glendale Depot association, John S. Knox, presiding.

It was disclosed by Secretary Guy E. Rice, chairman of the petition committee, the names on the total of twenty petitions now circulating would total around 1000.

"We want to arbitrate, if possible, but will fight if we have to," was the sentiment everywhere evident.

George A. Montgomery was among the sixty residents and property owners present. He spoke briefly, assuring the assemblage of his sympathy and cooperation.

Two Main Reasons

The discussion brought out two decided reasons in favor of locating the proposed Southern Pacific depot at the foot of Eulalia street:

1—It would be nearer Los Feliz road.

2—It would do away with assessments on Cerritos avenue.

After considerable talk, in which the words "injunction" and "writ of probation" were frequently and forcibly used, W. T. Jefferson of Pasadena, said to be a property owner in the district, rose and poured oil on the troubled waters, cautioning those present that they were on the verge of a costly lawsuit.

Adopts Resolution

Mr. Jefferson submitted the following resolution, which was adopted by unanimous vote:

"Resolved: That the Glendale Chamber of Commerce be requested to appoint a committee of disinterested and competent citizens, to consult with the best interests of Glendale, Hollywood, Pasadena, Santa Monica, Monrovia, Beverly Hills and other towns and cities served by the proposed depot; and that the advertising possibilities of the Los Feliz road entrance to the depot be thoroughly understood and every effort made to utilize this to its fullest advantage."

Mr. Jefferson also pointed out that the deciding voice in the depot matter is not the Glendale City Council, but the officials of the Southern Pacific railway.

As a consequence of Mr. Jefferson's remarks, and of the adoption of his resolution, it was decided that a committee comprising W. T. Jefferson, Harry Haig and John S. Knox be appointed to carry the resolution to the Chamber of Commerce; and it was decided that a committee comprising W. T. Jefferson, Harry Haig, John S. Knox and Willard F. Yeo be appointed to bear copies of the petitions to the Southern Pacific officials.

To Present Petitions

It was decided that the petitions be called in and presented to the City Council at their meeting of Thursday night, June 28. Guy E. Rice, as chairman of the petition committee, accompanied by his committee members, will present the petitions in person.

It was decided by the Glendale Depot association to hold another mass meeting at the Magnolia avenue school next Monday night, July 2, at 7:30 o'clock, when reports will be heard on the action on petitions and resolutions, and other means devised, if necessary, for continuing the campaign.

War Time Shipbuilder Succumbs to Illness

SEATTLE, June 26.—Funeral arrangements were being made today for David Rodgers, war time manager of the Skinner & Eddy shipyard, who died at his home near here late last night after a long illness.

Broken in health from overwork, Rodgers was forced to relinquish his post as general manager of the shipbuilding plant after the armistice was signed. He went to California and the Orient, confident he would regain his health. He failed, however, and three weeks ago returned here from Oakland, Calif.

Rodgers was born in Belfast, Ireland. He came to Seattle in 1905, and was foreman in the construction of the battleship Nebraska.

Three Hurt as Plane Strikes Automobiles

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—As the result of an unusual accident, occasioned when an airplane crahed into a string of automobiles, C. P. Dryden, his wife and mother, all of Van Nuys, today suffered from serious injuries. Physicians say they will recover. The plane, piloted by Al Makepeace of Pasadena, was participating in a Kiwanis celebration at Kellog park, near Van Nuys, yesterday, when it became uncontrollable and swooped down on the spectators' machines. The plane and two cars were smashed.

HARDING IS OUTLINING PLATFORM

Lays Down Principles for Party to Follow in 1924 Campaign

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
For International News Service

EN ROUTE WITH PRESIDENT HARDING, RAWLING, WYO., June 26.—President Harding is slowly and methodically writing the Republican platform of 1924 as he pursues his steady speech-making way westward.

He is choosing his subjects with great care, with an eye to party harmony, and, when he has completed the score of major addresses which feature his western tour, they will constitute, his political advisers said today, a Republican book for next year's usage. The actual platform builders will find the planks all mapped out for them when convention time rolls around.

The president has been gone from Washington six days. In that time he has delivered carefully prepared formal addresses on five major topics that are certain to be in the forefront of issues in the campaign next year, the international court, the railroad problem, prohibition, agricultural prosperity, and the coal problem. On each of these issues, which are the subject of more or less controversy within the Republican party, Mr. Harding has laid down the broad principles he believes his party must follow if he is again to be the nominee.

The speeches that are regarded as having forecast the chief planks of the 1924 platform and the principles dictated therein are:

World Court Plans

International court (St. Louis)—The party must stand four square on its previous platform pledges in favor of an international court, by now accepting the court which the president has proposed, with such reservations as the senate Republicans think necessary. Mr. Harding himself wrote some reservations in his St. Louis speech which he believes will be acceptable to the Republican party.

Railroads (Kansas City)—Regional consolidation of the country's railroad system, so as to allow the weaker roads to lean upon the stronger; the railway labor board to be either strengthened or abandoned; cheaper freight rates to be recommended.

Agricultural prosperity (Hutchinson)—The party will "point with pride" to the vast array of agricultural relief legislation recently passed and stress the assertion of Mr. Harding in Hutchinson "that no government in the world has done so much for its farmers as has the administration in Washington in the last two years."

Enforce Volstead Law

Prohibition (Denver) — The party will be uncompromisingly dry; stand squarely behind the

Labor Party Rejects Communist Alliance

LONDON, June 26.—By an overwhelming majority the British labor party, in conference here today, rejected a resolution for affiliation with the communists. Delegates representing more than 2,000,000 members of labor unions voted against the resolution.

Johnson Will Study Hague Court Methods

LONDON, June 26.—United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, departed today for The Hague to study the workings of the international court of justice and arbitration at close range. The court is now in session hearing cases involving the Kiel canal.

MAN, POSING AS WOMAN, PUZZLE TO POLICE

Identified As Slayer, Denies Guilt, But Admits Dual Personality

Two poses of suspect in Tesmer slaying as "Fred Thompson" and as "Mrs. Frances Carrick"

CHICAGO, June 26.—Police here are wading through a maze of developments in what promises to be the strangest case in the history of Windy City crime annals.

In a cell in the men's quarters of the Hyde Park police station a creature paces the floor in a flimsy blue silk dress—a dual personality, alternately masculine and feminine.

The prisoner is booked as "Fred Thompson" and is being held in connection with the slaying of Richard C. Tesmer two weeks ago.

But when police raided the flat of Frank Carrick it was the person known as "Mrs. Frances Carrick" that was arrested.

Garbed in the blue dress, black chiffon hose, black satin pumps and a picture hat, "Mrs. Carrick" was rushed before Mrs. Tesmer, widow of the slain man.

Cannot Forget Smile

"That is the girl who murdered my husband. I can never forget those eyes and that smile. There is no doubt of it. I'll never forget the look on her face. Lock her up. She can't lie out of this."

The detectives led the suspect back to the detective bureau and to Chief of Detective Hughes' private office. Then a peculiar thing happened.

Off came the curly black coiffure which framed the powdered and rouged face, and off came the woman's garments.

There stood before the startled eyes of the officers—a man.

More revelations, equally amazing, followed, as a confession of the past was wrung from the suspect. He maintained a rigid denial, however, of complicity in the Tesmer murder.

Lives Double Life

For fourteen years, he said, he has lived the life of a "Dr. Jekyl and Mrs. Hyde." As a man, he gave his name as Fred Thompson, no address. As a woman, he passed as Mrs. Frances Carrick, living with her "husband," Frank Carrick, an automobile mechanic, in a luxuriously appointed

PLAN FLIGHT OF 4 DAYS, 4 NIGHTS

Aviators Hope to Hop Off Tomorrow Morning to Set New World Mark

SAN DIEGO, Cal., June 26.—The attempt to fly for four days and nights without a pause will start tomorrow morning at dawn unless last minute inspection or weather conditions make it advisable to postpone the take-off until Thursday morning, it was said at Rockwell field today.

All army and navy flying personnel here was jubilant over the successful refueling tests of yesterday, when Captain Smith and Lieutenant Richter, in the De Haviland they hope to keep aloft three times longer than any plane has yet flown, snared the forty foot, inch and a half hose dangling from the "feeder" plane driven by Lieutenants Seifert and Hines, who were flying directly overhead, and received gasoline at the rate of twenty-five gallons a minute.

To Investigate Routes

WASHINGTON, June 26.—As a result of International News Service exclusive announcement last Saturday that British army flyers were starting on a flight around the world, Secretary of War Weeks today ordered two army aviators to investigate routes as the first step toward a similar flight by American flyers.

Millions of Damage In Electrical Storm

TORONTO, June 26.—Damage estimated in millions was caused by a violent electrical storm which swept the western part of Ontario province early today.

CALL SECOND TRIAL

LOS ANGELES, June 26. — The second trial of W. A. Cornelius, special police officer, charged with slaying Gilbert Greenwell on January 14 as the result of a quarrel over a request for a match, was scheduled to start today before Superior Judge Cole. At the first trial, the jury was unable to agree. The officer will aver he shot in self-defense.

Break in Power Line Holds Up Street Cars

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Street car service in downtown and western districts was at a standstill for twenty minutes today and for more than an hour was "weak" as the result, it was unofficially stated, of a break in a high power line outside the city. The break occurred early in the day, causing thousands of workers to be late in reporting at their places of business.

Relief Promised in New York Heat Wave

NEW YORK, June 26.—Promises of showers late today gave hope to sweltering New York that the present hot spell would be broken before night. The first death of the day traceable to the heat was that of Mrs. Dora Katz, wife of Samuel Katz, wealthy wholesale druggist. She went to the roof of the six story apartment building in which she lived, seeking relief from the heat. In some unexplained manner she fell to her death.

LEADS GOLF TOURNEY

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Climaxing a day of surprises and upsets, Raymond McAuliffe, of Buffalo, N. Y., this afternoon took the lead in the first 18-hole qualifying round of the public links championship tournament by turning in a card of 76-68 out and 38 in.

FARMER FEUDIST KILLED IN DUEL

Two Year Old Quarrel Ends Fatally as One Is Shot From Ambush

OMAHA, June 26.—A bitter feud which has been smoudering since April 1, 1920, between the Walter Bardsley and William Zimmerman families at their adjoining farms near Neola, Iowa, 20 miles from Council Bluffs, Iowa broke out anew this mornng when Zimmerman was shot and killed in a duel with his warring neighbor. Zimmerman was slain by Bardsley, who was in ambush with his shotgun, according to reports.

The family feud started about two years ago over the selling of a prize bull, both claiming the other had been cheated in the transaction. Since then the families have been at "swords' points."

Zimmerman accused Bardsley of poisoning his well and of putting arsenic in his Sunday chicken dinners. Bardsley was arrested on a charge of attempting to commit murder, but was acquitted.

Then Bardsley sued Zimmerman for $50,000 for false arrest, and Zimmerman was acquitted.

The sheriff and posses from Council Bluffs are rushing to Neola to search for Bardsley.

Oil Magnate Shoots Wife, Ends Own Life

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Affection for his wife prompted A. Veso Harlin, Oklahoma oil magnate, to take her with him when he ended both their lives with pistol shots in a local apartment house, according to a theory the police arrived at today. By piecing out the story of the hapless pair, police say Harlin could not bear the thought of leaving his wife behind, when he determined to end his own life on account of ill health.

Will Form Air Force To Protect Britain

LONDON, June 26.—The British government has decided to create a home air force adequate to defend the country against the strongest air force within striking distance, Premier Stanley Baldwin announced in the house of commons this afternoon.

L. A. UTILITIES BOARD AIDS GLENDALE RAILWAY

Approves Application for Permission to Construct Exchange Track

THE Board of Public Utilities of Los Angeles yesterday approved the application for permission to construct and operate an exchange track between Division and Cazador streets, Los Angeles, by the Glendale & Montrose Railway Company. The application, which has been on file for several months, was then referred to the Los Angeles City Council for final action.

The session of the Board of Public Utilities was attended by City Manager W. H. Reeves, three representatives of the railway company, P. L. Hatch, superintendent, Val Haresnape, secretary and treasurer, and Attorney C. E. McFarland, general counsel, and commissioners John P. Kennedy, E. H. Bogardus and Walter R. Leeds.

May Take Six Months

Mr. Hatch stated this morning that as soon as this franchise has been received, orders would be placed for the necessary equipment. He estimated that it would be six months before sub-station generators could be obtained from the General Electric Company and the fifty-ton $30,000 electric locomotive could be delivered by the Westinghouse Electric Company.

"We will make a big efort to be operating by the first of January, he remarked. "We will make every effort to push the thing through as quickly as possible."

DECIDE PROGRAM AT PLAYGROUNDS

Arrange Hours to Hold Summer Sessions for Boys and Girls

The summer playground program of the Glendale schools is now in partial operation and will be in full swing by the first of next week, reports Secretary R. Ernest Tucker of Community Service, under whose auspices this work is being conducted.

Eugene Wolfe, one of the athletic coaches of the Glendale Union high school, is now on duty at the boys' playground of this school from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 9 o'clock at night, daily. He will rotate in charge with Normal C. Hayhurst and Howard Butterfield, also athletic instructors and coaches.

Start On Monday

Starting Monday, July 2, Miss Shattuck will have charge of the girls' playground at the high school. Her hours will be from 1 o'clock each afternoon.

The Cerritos and Central avenue schools will open their playgrounds on Monday, July 2, the former being in charge of Mr. Bremmer and the latter in charge of Mr. McMaster, both teachers at the Glendale avenue school.

Mr. Wolfe announces that he is now enrolling entries in the forthcoming tennis tournament.

ORDER BY HARDING

WASHINGTON, June 26. — President Harding has issued an executive order, placing the operation of the Alaska railroad under the control of the interior department, it was announced here this afternoon. Construction of the line was completed

U. S. Refuses Concessions In Foreign Dry Battle

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 26.—The government's policy in the international ship liquor controversy, became a hardboiled battle today when the treasury department refused to grant any concessions in the case of foreign vessels, whose outbound sailing dates may be delayed while prohibition agents inventory and seize their stocks of beverage liquor.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Moss issued orders to speed up the inforcement work at New York, but declared that ship captains who had brought liquor over in violation of the Volstead act would have to assume the responsibility if the vessels were held up.

Although the government has decided to discriminate between rum running ships and those which bring liquor into American ports under seal for consumption outside the three-mile limit, the continued movement of the latter class of cargoes to the United States gave treasury department officials a new cause for concern.

Any transportation of beverage liquor into American territorial waters is a clear violation of the Volstead act, but to avoid international complications, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes plans to do nothing in the case of foreign liners but to take possession of the liquor brought over for the homeward voyage. He does not contemplate the seizure of the vessels or the arrest of the commander, despite the fact that this would be the procedure if the ships were engaged in smuggling.

When this plan of action was decided upon by treasury officials, it was thought that only one or two foreign ships would try to evade the law, thus furnishing grounds for a test case to establish the authority of the United States. The situation has increased in complexity, however, as liquor cargoes continue to come in.

Utah Stages Enthusiastic Reception For President

SALT LAKE CITY, June 26.—President Harding arrived here shortly before noon today on his trans-continental tour, and was accorded an enthusiastic reception from thousands of people who lined the streets with flags to welcome the presidential party.

The president left his train early this morning at Ogden and motored nearly fifty miles into the capital city through beautiful Salt Lake valley. The motor trip was a continuous ovation.

It had been planned to make the motor trip a quick dash into Salt Lake City, but the crowds that lined the roadsides made speed impossible, and several times the president was literally forced to stop and verbally express his appreciation of the warmth of his welcome.

Ogden was first to greet Mr. Harding. Despite the earliness of the hour, most of the city was out with flags, and in mid-town he stopped and made a short speech from his automobile in appreciation of the welcome.

He spoke of the obvious prosperity of the valley folk, and compared it with the economic despair of Europe.

"I wish," said the president, "that I could wave a magic wand and make the whole world as prosperous and happy as you seem to be."

President Harding held an informal public reception in the Hotel Utah, immediately upon his arrival in Salt Lake City. He was introduced by Governor Mabey and Senators Smoot and King, who formed the reception committee which met him at Ogden.

After the reception, the president lunched privately at the hotel, and this afternoon planned to get the train kinks out of his legs with a round of golf at the country club here. Tonight he speaks at the Tabernacle, and leaves at 11 p. m. for Cedar City, for a visit to Zion park.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed N. Radke, of 405 West Doran street, are having the pleasure of entertaining as their house guest, Mrs. Radke's sister, Mrs. O. P. Crawford of Washington. Mrs. Crawford arrived here on Saturday and will remain for several weeks.

Mrs. E. E. Emerick and daughter, Louise, of 434 West Elk avenue left Sunday for San Francisco, where they will spend a few days before leaving for the east. Their destination is Clinton, Ill., where they will remain for the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. William Clutter and family of 368 Ivy street, and Mrs. Clutter's mother, Mrs. L. J. Morrow, left this morning for Rockford, Ohio, their old home, where they will visit with relatives and friends. They will return to their home here in about two months.

Friends of Will Ed Alexander, 9-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Alexander of 202 North Central, will be interested to learn that he has entered the Glendale Commercial school for summer work in typewriting and penmanship. He is in the fourth grade at the grammar school.

Mrs. F. L. Soper of 642 Salem street, was pleasantly surprised Saturday evening by the arrival of her brother, William Van Meter of Richland, Mo. Mr. Van Meter is a prominent architect and builder in Richland and is thinking seriously of locating permanently in Glendale.

Mrs. F. H. Vesper, of 321 East Lomita avenue, left Sunday for New York, where she will visit with relatives and friends. Mr. Vesper will follow later, and together they will visit in Wisconsin and Iowa. This is the first visit Mr. and Mrs. Vesper have made in the East since they came to Glendale in 1906.

Miss Romayne Latta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Latta of 700 North Isabel street, has just returned home from the Hawaiian Islands where she has been teaching school. Miss Emma Watters, also from the islands, is spending the week with Miss Latta before going on to her home in Mankato, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Amphlett and son Gordon of 1231 North Central avenue, are leaving via automobile on Wednesday for Yosemite, Portland, Oregon, and Washington. They expect to be gone about a month and will spend most of their time at Yosemite. They will visit in Portland a sister of Mrs. Amphlett's for a few days.

W. H. Flynn and sons, Billy and Dickie, and Mrs. Flynn's mother, Mrs. Helen Cummins, of 331 El Bonita street, are spending the week camping at the Los Angeles City play grounds, near Arrowhead Springs. They expect to make several trips to the various fishing grounds during their stay, including a trip to Big Bear lake. Mrs. Flynn and her brother, Hershel Cummins, will join the party Saturday for the week-end.

Miss Eva Dockeray and Miss Bess Dockeray, teachers from Grand Rapids, Mich., and their mother, Mrs. Edna Dockeraly and Mrs. Thuman, who have been visiting their relatives, Mrs. J. W. Headlee and Mrs. Edith Dockeray of 723 South Louise street, and also G. A. and D. J. Dockeray of 115 West Windsor road, left Sunday for San Francisco where they will attend the Educational Conference and later will enroll for the six weeks' summer course at the University of California at Berkeley. They are all in love with Glendale and hope to return here to make their permanent home.

Word has been received from the Misses Agnes and Elsie Verity of 511 West Broadway, who are making an extensive tour of the eastern states, of the many good times they are enjoying. At the present time they are visiting at their former home, St. Louis, Mo. On July 1 they leave for Battle Creek, Mich., where they will visit with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Dockry and an aunt, Mrs. Palmatier at Kalamazoo, Mich.

Social Events

Party In Garden

The garden of the William Rattray home at 286 Kenneth road is to be the scene of an enjoyable summer social affair tomorrow night, when the Music section of the Tuesday Afternoon club entertains with a benefit for the piano fund.

Elaborate plans are being carried out and great expense gone to, to make the affair successful. Mrs. Warren Roberts, curator of the section, and her assistants, have had the entire garden wired for electric lighting for hundreds of brilliant Japanese lanterns. In addition the tennis court has been put in fine shape for dancing and over the court is to be built a canopy of red, white and blue crepe paper streamers with golden stars.

Music for dancing will be furnished by Kelly's eight-piece Shrine Club orchestra. Mrs. Bine J. Smith is in charge of serving the punch on the tennis court. During the intermission there will be special favors distributed.

In the Rattray home, Mrs. Helen I. Campbell will preside over the bridge and five hundred tables and Mrs. Sallie Braden will have charge of serving.

From 8:30 to 9 o'clock pupils of the Pearl Keller studio will give a program on the lawn. A special system of spotlights has been installed for the program.

Plan for Dance

The dance to be given Thursday evening, June 28, at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse under the auspices of the Glendale Community Service organization is sure to be a success and well attended, according to reports received from the Community service headquarters.

Patronesses for the affair will be Mrs. C. E. Hutchinson, Mrs. C. C. Cooper, Mrs. A. R. Eastman and Mrs. Charles B. Guthrie. The reception committee of which Miss Grace Crampton is chairman consists of Miss Dorothy Morton, Miss Gladys Cattleman, George Hastings and George B. Peddicord. Miss Ruth Ryan, chairman of the refreshment committee, will be assisted by Mrs. Almena Bullock and Miss Mildred Mentzer, and the punch committee of which Miss Ruth Spafford is the chairman, consists of Miss Nora Dowdle and Miss Ruth Frost. A general arrangement committee consists of Mrs. J. R. Case, Jr., R. E. Tucker, Miss Myrtle Helmer and J. A. Meyers.

The services of a splendid jazz orchestra have been secured to furnish syncopations for the dancing.

More than 500 invitations have been issued to the young people of Glendale and a large attendance is anticipated.

Happy Reunion

Miss Marjorie Humbert of 1729 Gardena avenue was hostess yesterday at a luncheon honoring Mrs. Frank Creasey of Long Beach, formerly Miss Leona Hughes.

Hostess, honoree and guests were all scroolmates in Hobart, Oklahoma, and the affair was in the nature of a reunion.

The luncheon table was decorated in pink, with a large pink crepe paper rose as a centerpiece, holding a tiny kewpie, dressed in bridal attire.

Mrs. Creasy was presented with a shower of miscellaneous gifts, while each guest received a tiny pink favor basket with wedding bells attached with white tulle.

In the afternoon bunco was enjoyed by the company, including Mrs. Creasey, Miss Humbert, Mrs. James Morgan, Mrs. Frank Perry, Miss Myrtle Peterson of Long Beach, Moneta Seibert of Pasadena, Hallie and Elva Thompson of Monrovia, recently returned from a European trip.

To Honor President

Mrs. E. B. Moore, president of the Glendale Parent-Teacher Federation, announces that a number of Glendale women are planning to attend a reception Thursday afternoon at the Hotel Alexandria in Los Angeles, honoring Mrs. Reeve, president of the National Congress of Mothers. The reception will be from 3 to 5 o'clock.

At McElroy Home

Among the affairs of the past week was the delightful reception Saturday afternoon from 3 until 6 o'clock, given by Mrs. William Weldon McElroy, at her home on South Adams street, in honor of Mrs. Harold Alexander McElroy and the Misses Louise and Sarah Olin.

Early garden flowers were attractively arranged about the rooms. One pleasant feature was the soft music on the harp which was played throughout the afternoon. Mrs. Frank Arnold, in her usual charming manner, sang a group of artistically rendered songs: "All for You," "Trees," and "Irish Folk Song," and Mrs. H. W. Carver, a new addition to Glendale musical circles, sang beautifully the three songs, "Absent," "What the Robin Saw" and "Florian's Song."

Those assisting Mrs. McElroy were Mrs. A. D. Lord of Arcadia and Mrs. S. C. Webb of Los Angeles, who poured tea and coffee in the dining room; Mrs. Margaret Cook of Hollywood, Miss Marian Schumacher of Whittier and Miss Faith Farling of Glendale, assisting with the refreshments; Miss Emily Cutting of Hollywood and Miss Maxine Webb of Los Angeles served at the punch bowl in the sun room.

Those present were Mesdames Fred Abby, Frank Arnold, Park Arnold, H. E. Bartlett, William Beach, A. W. Beach, Fred Beach, David Black, Dan Campbell, A. S. Chase, A. B. Cook, Lillian Dow, E. U. Emery, O. G. Farrow, Dora Gibson, H. S. Garlinghouse, N. P. Harrison, J. L. Hatch, Frank Hester, F. M. Huckins, E. C. Hutchinson, Elizabeth Jenkins, Henry Johnston, Mattison B. Couple Honored

On Sunday, June 24, 1923, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Reddinger of 325 West Acacia street celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary with a picnic dinner in Verdugo park surrounded by their many warm friends who were participating in the great Knights of Columbus picnic, few of whom knew of the special significance of the day but just the same radiating good cheer and companionship to the celebrants.

Twenty years ago Geo. C. Reddinger, of Kittanning, Pa., and Miss Lillian Forster, of Sharpsburg, Pa., were married in the parish church of St. Mary's by the Rev. Father Otten.

Mr. and Mrs. Reddinger continued to reside in Sharpsburg until coming to Glendale three years ago April 24. Soon after their arrival they moved into their present home, 325 West Acacia.

Seven children have come to bless their union, all of whom were present Sunday at the dinner in the park. Their son, George Reddinger, is employed in the Security Trust & Savings bank, Miss Ruth Marie is a special student in Los Angeles, Marcellus will enter Loyola college in Los Angeles in September and Elmer, Ralph, Regis and Raymond are in the Glendale schools.

After the wedding cake which was an outstanding feature of the fine dinner that was served, the afternoon was spent in the amusements offered at the picnic. One of Mrs. Reddinger's pleasures was dancing with her children. Not every mother has that pleasure on her twentieth wedding anniversary and Mrs. Reddinger fully appreciated her privilege.

In Annual Picnic

The annual Sunday school picnic of the First Methodist church held last Saturday at Monte Vista park at Sunland, proved a success.

About forty machines filled with happy picnickers left the church at 1:30 o'clock and paraded through the city of Glendale, and later upon reaching the park, interesting ball games between the Baraca class, Senior class and Business Men's class, at which the Baraca class was declared victorious, proved unusually interesting and enjoyable.

Contests, races and games were in charge of Earl Kellar and a general committee of arrangements consisted of Mr. Percey of Sunland and L. C. Leeds of Glendale.

Later a delicious picnic dinner was served by a committee of which Mrs. S. Warren was chairman. Over 400 were seated at the long tables. After dinner an interesting program was presented under the direction of Mrs. Jessie Fredricks.

Children's Party

A delightful children's party was given Monday afternoon in the celebration of the 13th birthday anniversary of Miss Dorothy May Leash at her home, 406 West Garfield avenue, by her mother, Mrs. Anna E. Leash, who was assisted by Ethel Leash and Mrs. W. Rush.

The rooms were artistically decorated in a blue and white color scheme and with a profusion of spring flowers. The refreshment table appointments were also carried out in the same color scheme.

Those present were Edith Carmack, Marjory Packard, Ruth White, Martha Warfield, Alberta Hunt, Eloise Knaus, Helen Rosenberg, Genevieve Gannon, Carol Hewitt, Dan Bruce, William and Edward Leash.

The honoree was the recipient of many lovely birthday gifts from her many little friends.

Not Guilty Is Plea To Reckless Driving

A plea of "not guilty" to the charge of reckless driving was entered by W. F. Elsner of 4020 Sequoia street, Los Angeles, yesterday afternoon before Judge F. H. Lowe in the police court. He deposited $100 bail for his appearance in court, August 16. His automobile, which was being driven south on Brand boulevard about 8 o'clock Monday morning, collided with a motorcycle which was being ridden eastward on Los Feliz road by Melvin Todd, son of George W. Todd of 133 West Los Feliz road. Young Todd, who had his left leg broken, is reported to be getting along nicely this morning at the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital.

When a ragged, homely man speaks of beautiful things, his face assumes a delightful expression.

A group of the pupils of the Woods School of Dancing and Dramatic Art are to take part in a garden party program Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Seymour Thomas at La Crescenta for the building fund of the new La Crescenta church.

Rosina Brown will give a Japanese musical reading in costume; Ruth Bender in white sleighing costume is to give a dance, "Jingle Bells"; Elizabeth Haviland, in a dress of pink and red, will give the "French Hat" dance; Joseph Taylor, in Chinese costume of green and yellow, will give a Chinese song and dance; and Evelyn Molz, in pink, will give a "Fairy Dance."

Advocate Nation-Wide Physical Examination

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—Ten thousand members of the American Medical association, in convention here, are today discussing the probable action their law-making body, the House of Delegates will take on the startling plan advocated by President-Elect Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur for a national physical examination of the American people.

Dr. Wilbur came out flat-footedly for preventive, rather than curative, medicine and toward that end suggested a nation-wide examination on the order of that which obtained during the draft in the recent war.

CONTINUOUS EDUCATION

Scots of Southland To Picnic on July 4

All Scots of the Southland are invited to convene with their fellow Kilties, at Plummer Park, Los Angeles, 7329 Santa Monica boulevard, July 4, the affair being the annual picnic and reunion, under the auspices of the Caledonian Club.

The plans include a social time until noon, when a basket dinner will be held, with tea and coffee provided.

The afternoon program will include dancing in the pavilion, amateur athletic events, games and sports, soccer football matches, bagpipe playing, Highland dress and dancing competitions. Suitable prizes and medals will be awarded the winners.

The park may be reached by Santa Monica boulevard car from Hill street station, Los Angeles, states Oscar Ewing, secretary of the Caledonian Club.

Charles Hart Gets Second in Contest

Charles Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Hart of 321 North Isabel street won second in the first heat of The Evening Herald boat races in Los Angeles Saturday. In the finals he was defeated by an older boy. However, he received favorable mention for his part in the contest.

Charles made his own boat at the Wilson avenue Intermediate school here for which he took third place in a contest, it is reported.

Enforce Billboard Ordinance, Is Plea

Inforcement of the section of the billboard ordinance prohibiting the posting of signs upon public streets was requested last night at the council meeting by Councilman W. A. Horn. He stated that "nothing cheapens a town so much" as a lot of miscellaneous signs and placards advertising "dances and prize fights" posted upon telephone poles and in other conspicuous places.

FAVORS EULALIA SITE FOR DEPOT

Mrs. E. W. Richardson Gives Views on Location of New S. P. Station

Ella W. Richardson requests The Glendale Evening News to publish the following communication relative to the Southern Pacific depot location discussion:

Dear Friends of Glendale—The sixteen acres of land, on part of which the Southern Pacific depot now stands, was presented to that company by my husband's father. This land was carefully selected as being the most suitable for the purpose, and in addition, land enough to create Railroad street, which is the direct road from Los Feliz to the depot site, was given to the city. For even then, nearly 35 years ago, it was recognized that the main highway of traffic, from the mountains to the sea, would be Los Feliz road, which is the direct road from the break in the hills at Colorado street bridge, Pasadena, to the break in the next line of hills, at Griffith park bridge. So I cannot understand why any plan to move the depot further from Los Feliz road than it is now could be considered or advocated by anyone working for the interests of the community. Especially as there is room for several depots of the size proposed on the land given to the railroad by my father for depot purposes exclusively.

The Southern Pacific depot did not cost the railroad company one cent. It was paid for by the citizens of Glendale, many of whom helped pay for the present depot, and are fighting to have the new depot where the depot always has been, and must be in future, if it is to be for the benefit of the public, and not for private interests.

Terms of Gift

A curious feature of the depot controversy, and one that may be of the utmost importance later, is the clause in the deed from my father to the railroad company, which reads as follows:

"The above described premises are to be used for depot and railroad purposes by said party of the second part. Together with all and singular the tenements and hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining and the reversion and reversions, remainder and remainders, rents, issues and profits thereof.

"To have and to hold all and singular the said premises together with the appurtenances unto the said party of the second part and to its successors and assigns forever."

Lawyers tell me that this old style wording of the deed was intended to forever preclude the leasing of this property for any commercial purpose, to force its use as railroad property absolutely, and would be so construed in the courts today. And, if it were so construed, the present site of the lumber yard on the property now, would become the property of the Richardson heirs. But I take it for granted, the officials of the railroad are high-minded men, as I have always found them to be, and that no rent is being paid for this property at present, valuable though it may be.

I did not interest myself in this matter, while the question involved was, on its surface, apparently the mere question of locating the depot a few hundred feet away from its present location. It was only when I realized that the present scheme of removing the depot from its present location, and where all the stages for dozens of towns around would deliver passengers for the new depot, that I felt it my duty to go on record as being for the interests of the people of Glendale in this matter, first, last and all the time, though I might have more to gain if the railroad company leased this depot land to a lumber company, than any other person in Glendale.

Would Change Names

I most heartily approve of the plan to change the name of Railroad street to Depot street, opening from Brand to Los Feliz and making the entrance to the depot a fitting "Front Door" to Glendale's new railroad depot. With thirty thousand automobiles a day passing there, and proper advertising of the time to be saved by Glendale depot service, this would very soon make our Glendale depot second only to that in Los Angeles. Also the suggestion of changing the name of Eulalia street (named after my daughter, Mrs. Eulalia R. Mitchell), which is really a continuation of Central avenue to the depot, to Central avenue, and improving it with lights, at no expense to the city, is a very good idea.

My property interests in Glendale are so scattered that my personal interests are entirely secondary in this depot matter to my interest in the welfare of Glendale. Meanwhile I suggest Railroad street, in its present condition, be visited by any resident of Glendale, who has doubts as to where the new depot should be located.

Yours for helpful co-operation for the community,

ELLA W. RICHARDSON.

Cancel Examination For Rural Carrier

The examination that was announced, to be held July 14, to fill the vacancy in the position of rural carrier out of the Glendale postoffice, has been canceled, according to a notice received this morning by Postmaster D. Ripley Jackson.

EDITORS GATHER AT FOREST HOME

Slaves of Standard Keyboard Frolic in Mountains Over Week-end

Members of the Southern California Edtoral Association enjoyed the week end at Forest Home in the San Bernardino mountains. Gil A. Cowan of The Glendale Evening News staff represented this city among the seventy-five newspaper men in attendance.

A luncheon was tendered the delegation Saturday noon at Casa Loma hotel in Redlands where Chamber of Commerce speakers lauded their "home town." They pride themselves there on the manufacture of bath towels.

"Hi" Wambold told the editors about the Monroe Centennial Motion Picture exposition which opens the first of next month in Los Angeles while Ed Thomas of the Pacific Electric told them of his company's efforts to satisfy the public's demands for service.

The trip to Forest Home was marked with several impromptu blow-outs, but everyone made the trip without any serious trouble. At the mountain resort a visit to the fish hatchery featured Saturday afternoon's program while Frank Culver personally attended to his guests' desires in the matter of food. It is wonderful how Southern California editors respond to the tune of "You Gotta See Mama Every Night or You Can't See Mama at All" while dancing to the music of Forest Home orchestra.

Among the Girls

Clarence "Grimes" Hall of Glendale rattles a wicked banjo among the syncopators and Sunday morning found him doing a hign dive among several movie queens who were posing for pictures to be syndicated by the Pacific Picture News.

The water was cold and "Grimes" kept the photographer standing in one position for a half hour while he was making up his mind to leap. It is said that even the native fish shiver and the one or two brave boys among the editorial contingent lost their voices as a result of a cold Saturday night bath.

Sam Thompson, another Glendale boy, is on Frank Culver's reception committee. He waits tables and aids with the evening bonfire which makes an imposing spectacle. Incidentally, all of the youngsters seem to enjoy life while the old folks play cards, dance or fish for trout.

Forest Home enjoys an unusually large patronage, being very accessible. It is a mile high and quite a stiff grade, but nothing compared with the Bear Valley road. The editors were very appreciative of Mr. Culver's efforts to make them comfortable.

The fall meeting will be featured by a barbecue at Oxnard and a trip to Santa Barbara, it was stated by President Paul Moore of the Redlands Daily Facts. Governor Richardson was unable to attend the meeting as planned.

Noted Bible Scholar In Three Lectures

The women of Glendale and vicinity have a rare treat in store for them on Thursday of this week. Dr. Katharine Bushnell, eminent Bible scholar, will lecture on the subject of "Purity," at 10:30 a. m., at the Gospel Tabernacle church, at the corner of Louise and Chestnut streets. Dr. Bushnell was a very close friend of Frances E. Willard, and all W. C. T. U. women will be especially interested in her message. Every mother in Glendale should hear this address.

On Thursday, 2:30 p. m., Dr. Bushnell will speak on the subject, "God's Word to Women." She is the author of two volumes having this title. Of this work Dr. James M. Gray, of the Moody Bible institute, says: "It is time a woman should interpret what the Bible says about women. No woman seems better qualified for this work than the author, who, by her knowledge of Hebrew and Greek and by years of study in connection with British libraries, has produced a work that is greatly needed in our day. Dr. Bushnell's work is scholarly and erudite, but devout and loyal to the Bible."

On Wednesday night Dr. Bushnell will address the midweek prayer service on the subject, "Hastening the Coming of the Lord."

New York Rum Trade Takes on New Life

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Reopening of a large number of liquor saloons in New York city and an increase in smuggling over the Canadian border and off the New York-New Jersey coast are in evidence as a result of the repeal of the New York state dry law, Prohibition Commissioner Haynes declared in a formal statement this afternoon.

Ten Thousand Maimed Vets at Convention

MINNEAPOLIS, June 26.—A one-minute tribute of silence in homage to their comrades asleep in the sods of France, a prayer by Rabbi Michael Aronson, Baltimore, blind chaplain of the order, and the third national convention of the Disabled American Veterans was opened here on Monday. More than ten thousand of America's war maimed were in attendance.

BIG REUNION AT TOPANGO CANYON

Former Residents of Colony In Mexico Meet Again After Separation

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Grant of Arbor Rest Home and their house guest, Mrs. L. D. Crothwait of San Antonio, attended the reunion held Sunday at Topango Canyon of former residents of San Dieguito, Mexico.

Several years ago, before the recent revolution, Mr. and Mrs. Grant and a colony of more than fifty American families settled at San Dieguito, Mexico. On account of the unsettled conditions they all returned to the United States, most of them locating in Southern California. Yesterday was the first time in fourteen years some of those present had met and a most enjoyable day was spent in talking over old times and renewing acquaintances.

Those who were present besides Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Grant and Mrs. L. D. Crothwait were Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Thomason and son, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Thomason, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miller of Lancaster, Mr. and Mrs. John Berry of Del Sur, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Doolin of Santa Barbara, Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge Radford, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Want, Dr. and Mrs. F. Lusby of Sawtelle, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Doolin of Los Angeles, Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Fuller of Lomita.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomason expect in a very short time to return to Mexico and cultivate the land which they still own there.

Revivalist Tells of God's Budget Plan

A forceful sermon was delivered by Rev. L. E. Swaney on "God's Budget Plans" at the Nazarene revival services Sunday afternoon. The musical part of the service included a duet rendered by Rev. and Mrs. Scheideman of South Glendale avenue.

At the evening services, a delegation from the Broadway Methodist church, of which Rev. L. J. Milliken is pastor, conducted the meeting. Rev. Milliken led in the community singing assisted at the piano by Mrs. Charles Newman. Special music consisting of several duet numbers were beautifully given by Mr. and Mrs. H. Hull of Los Angeles.

These services are being conducted each evening of this week at 7:30 o'clock, preceded by a prayer service at 7:15 o'clock. All those who enjoy an old fashioned revival service are invited. It is said Rev. Swaney is a spirit filled preacher and that if you don't hear him during this campaign you will be the loser.

Guard Man Against Assault by Klansmen

WILLIAMSPORT, Md., June 26.—William Hurd, druggust, and Ku Klux Klansman, was being closely guarded here today, following his charge that leaders of the mob which Saturday tried to lynch him also were Klansmen. He gave bail and was released from jail where he had been taken on an assault charge.

DAVIS HERE FOR BUSINESS VISIT

Will Spend Summer in East Before Returning Here Next September

W. B. Davis, general manager of the Davis-Glendale company, at 1301 North San Fernando road, arrived in Glendale Sunday night, with Mrs. Davis, for a short business visit. He and Mrs. Davis and son, Kenneth, will leave shortly for the summer at their home in Aurora, Ill., planning to return to Glendale in September.

"Business conditions are good in the Mid-West" says Mr. Davis. "Of course the weather has been pretty warm, but there have been frequent rains, and the crops are doing fine."

Music Is Feature in First Baptist Church

Special music featured both services Sunday at the First Baptist church.

Rev. R. D. Lichlider of Fresno preached in the morning on the topic "Wayside Ministries."

A high school quartet took part in the evening service. This was composed of Miss Gertrude Heideman of 123 South Adams street, Miss Winifred Parker of 212 North Orange street, Claude Whitfield of 351 Burchett street and Irvin Carver of 378 West California avenue. Selections sung included: "My Task" by Ashford and "The Prayer Perfect" by Stevenson.

The morning service included an especially arranged musical program, also. Mrs. Eva K. Ghrist of 629 D North Orange street, church organist, played Schubert's "Moment Musical" as the prelude and MacDowell's "Polonaise" as a piano selection.

Mrs. H. W. Carver of 378 West California avenue sang "Buck's "I Will Lay Me Down in Peace" as a soprano solo. A contralto solo was sung by Mrs. M. B. Wannacott of 324 Ethel street. It was Neidlinger's "Spirit of God."

The two anthems were Buck's "Festival De Deum" and "Largo" by Handel. The offertory was "Buona Notte" by Nevin.

Stewardess of Ship Is Believed Suicide

HONOLULU, June 26.—Adele M. Ash, 34, stewardess on the steamer City of Los Angeles, is believed to have suicided by jumping overboard in midocean, the ship's officer reported when the vessel docked here today. Failing eyesight, a result of service overseas as a war nurse, is believed to have been the cause.

WANTS BIBLE IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Editor Advocates Teaching Of Scriptures to All State Students

Dr. Wiley J. Phillips, editor of "The California Voice" spoke Sunday night at the First Methodist church.

"Believing that the restoration of the Bible to the public schools is essential to the proper education of the rising generations," he remarked, "we are preparing an initiative petition to submit this question to a vote of the people.

"All civil governments are based upon religion whether the government be Jewish, Christian or pagan. Religion is the one essential thing; in fact, there is no government without it. The character of the religion determines the character of the cicil government and gives tone and coloring to all its interests and manifestations.

"There is no other question so vital to this country as the question of religion. There are a number of things, which directly or indirectly affect the government, that depend wholly or at least largely upon the religion upon which the government is founded. Remuneration for labor, intellectual development and progress, health and longevity, the prevalence and character of crime are all determined by religion.

Restore Scriptures

"Believing as I do that the Bible stands alone in human literature, in its conceptions of manhood as to character and conduct, I am pleading for the restoration of the Bible to our public schools. No other book has ever done for liberty, justice and progress what the Bible has done. No other book has ever spoken with such authority against tyranny or with such pathetic tenderness to the heart of the wounded and sorrowing or with such breadth of expression or with such peculiar aptness in speaking to the great heart of humanity.

"For the state to eliminate this book from the educational system of our children is a crime.

"You may try to crush the Bible, it will live on and be read in the world's latest afternoon and when the last ray is fading out of the eye of humanity. It will not be toward Homer or Plato or Darwin or Einstein that the straining orb will be found directing itself but rather toward the divine glories of that one book which deserves to be called the Book of Humanity, The Classic of the World."

GIBBONS TO WIN, MANAGER CLAIMS

Brains, Punching Power and Speed to Bring Title to Challenger

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

SHELBY, Mont., June 26. — Eddie Kane is a slight handful of a man with sandy hair, an Irish eye that can either be humorous or menacing, and the Gibbons complexion. In accents calm and dispassionate he will inform you he is the manager of the next world's heavyweight champion much after the manner of one mentioning a commonplace fact.

His confidence is infectious. It is of such a faith that mountains are moved and the impossible made possible. Kane is a man with a vision, an ideal. He sees a hot July afternoon, less than two weeks hence, a crowded arena nestling in the sage brush and Jack Dempsey face down in the resin with a referee's arm rising and falling.

"Why are you so confident?" we asked Kane.

Gives Four Reasons

"There are four very good reasons," was the reply. "Gibbons has been an active fighter; secondly, he has speed; third, he has brains, and the fourth reason is his punch."

We pounced upon this last with the avid enthusiasm of a born debater. It was to laugh. What of Dempsey's punch? Wasn't it the harder of the two? Certainly. We saved time by answering our own questions.

"Yes," Mr. Kane was talking again. "Dempsey has the hardest punch. But did you ever notice a home run that dropped six inches outside the fence. It counted just as much as one that went 50 feet beyond. The point is that Gibbons will drop any man he hits on the button and I know he will hit Dempsey.

"So much for hitting. As for speed, there is no comparison. They talk about Dempsey's speed, but Tom has it on him there by 200 per cent. He looks wide open, but when you shoot the punch he isn't there.

"Now for smartness. Tom is probably the brainiest fighter in the ring. He is smarter than Dempsey and Kearns combined and I will miss my guess by a Montana mile if he doesn't outsmart them both, once the bell rings."

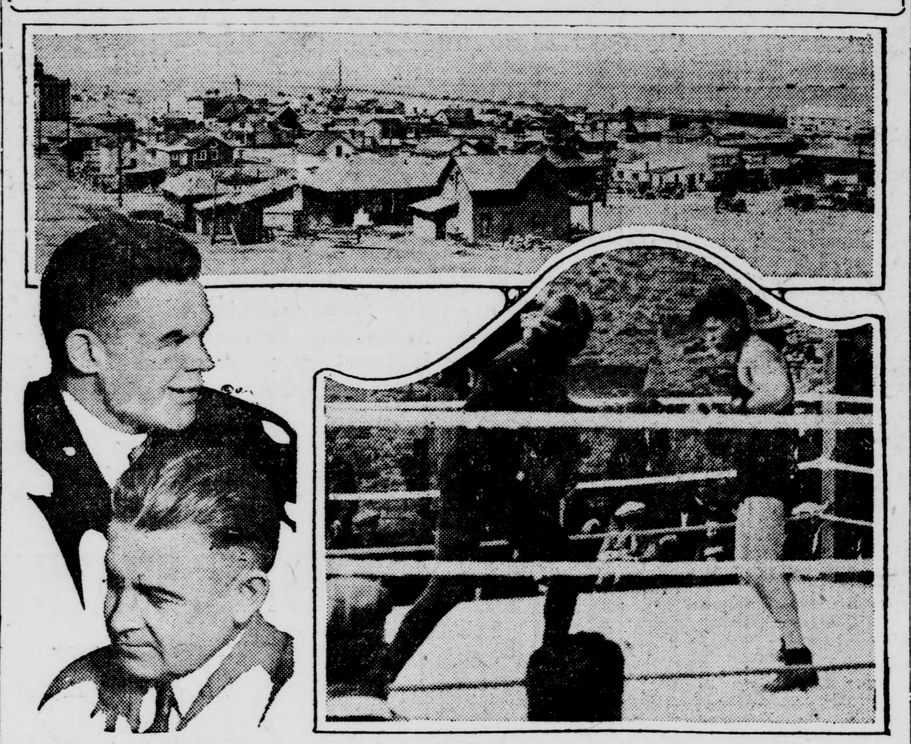
AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays, we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, at very little cost. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. —Advertisement.

If One Can Believe Rumors Shelby May Be Jack's Waterloo



View of town of Shelby, Mont., glimpse of Jack Dempsey sparring with George Godfrey at Great Falls camp, and the promoters of the fight, Loy Molumby, left, and Mike Collins.

By NORMAN E. BROWN

The coming heavyweight shindig between Thomas Gibbons of St. Paul and William Harrison Dempsey of Salt Lake City and New York has now reached the jolly stage of rumors.

These rumors take the following twist right now:

First, Dempsey is in poor condition and isn't training seriously enough to bring himself into perfect form for the challenger.

Second, his sparring partner, George "Kid" Godfrey, has shown the world that Dempsey isn't invincible by soaking him on the button for a knockout in training.

That's that.

The rumor concerning Dempsey's poor condition goes on to state that he is over weight and not making the necessary moves to cut off the excess poundage. His inability to handle firmly well meaning friends who wish to entertain him and bask in the light of his smile is said to be the cause.

Such rumors always precede a title bout—especially after the champ has reigned for a few years. Carriers of such rumors can point to the years of ease and plenty and the ordinary hatred of training to bolster up the story.

In this instance it may be the truth or it may be clever propaganda to bolster up the Gibbons backers to make the betting odds better. It may also be intentional—dished out in an effort to make Gibbons overconfident and put him off his guard.

As to the knockout at the hands of his negro aid. That's the hokum. A sparring partner has plenty of opportunities to slip over a k. o. wallop during a workout if he cares to double-cross the man who is paying his bills. Asked to play for the champ's stomach to strengthen those muscles, Godfrey or any other hard-hitter might time a perfect wallop to the jaw.

It is doubtful whether Dempsey or any other fighter would retain an aid with such a treacherous disposition, however. And Godfrey's still in Dempsey's camp.

There is this about the situation, however. Dempsey is young. Has young ideas. Life is sweet to him. His wealth came quickly, easily as fortunes come. He has been idle two years. It would take an exceptionally strong willed and level-headed gent under these conditions to hold himself in top-notch condition and then, overnight, lay aside his life of ease to plunge into the grind of a training siege.

Only those who can take a look at Dempsey themselves as the bout nears will be satisfied as to his condition. The others will form opinions—and bet by them.

THE FANNING BEE HIVE

THREE YEARS AGO

Gene Vidal, then a West Point athletic star, proved himself to be one of the greatest athletes in America by his showing at the Olympic games at Antwerp.

The other day this same gent, now coach of the track and field athletes at West Point, showed his army pupils and the world in general that he still is in trim by winning five of the six field events staged at the army track meet in Jersey City. The meet was for second army corps area. The javelin throw was the only field feature he failed to cop; the pole vault, both jumps, discus throw and shot put events were his.

Vidal was recognized as an athletic star from the time he was eligible to compete in West Point athletics. He won a score of points for his soldier school in military and other meets.

That Vidal's showing is a big boost for the Point and the caliber of men it has handling the future fighter of the nation goes without saying.

TAGGING ALL BASES

Rallying in the ninth for three runs the Giants narrowly escaped defeat after the Phillies had knocked in seven runs in the eighth, score 11 to 10.

Jesse Barnes' twirling gave the Braves a 7 to 4 verdict over the Brooklyns.

Two home runs put Cincinnati out in front and defeated Chicago 6 to 5.

Timely hitting gave the Pirates their second straight win over the Cardinals 3 to 1.

Smashing a triple with the bases loaded, Catcher Hoffman started a 7 run barbecue that enabled the Yanks to swamp the Red Sox 14 to 6.

HORSE THIEVES

A horse thief, when captured in Mongolia, is put into a box built so that he can neither sit down or stand up. A small hole through which he can reach for food is the only opening. The box is then put into a cellar, where the prisoner usually dies before six months are passed.

ANCIENT BATH TUBS

Ancient bathtubs of kings had one pair of steps for the rulers to mount the platform and enter the tub and several smaller flights of stairs at each end for attendants to carry up vases of scented water which they would throw on their master.

Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion, is very plain in his statements that Mike McTigue does not hanker to risk his world's light heavy crown in the ring with Gene. Mike says "Ha, Ha!" So there you are. The fact is the two ought to put up a good battle if they ever meet.

Wonder if Jess Willard will train as earnestly for his fight with Luis Firpo as he did for Floyd Johnson. Willard worked hard to reduce his weight from over 260 pounds to close to the 240-mark. His days of leisure since however, have brought back much flesh. The ordeal of taking it off again may not appeal to Willard. Confidence may handicap him too.

Those who still believe Big Jess to be a real fighter hope he will keep up his ambish.

A report compiled by the Dominion of Canada Bureau of Statistics shows that on May 1, 292 golf clubs were flourishing, representing an outlay in property and equipment of nearly $10,000,000.

The unusual popularity of the game is illustrated by figures which show that in 1916 there were only seventy-six golf courses in the Dominion. Last year there were 218, so that the increase since the first of the year has been seventy-four.

It is also interesting to note that eighty-one of the courses are eighteen hole layouts, while 211 are nine hole links.

The WORLD OVER

By FRANKLIN B. MORSE

Not until the Washington University eight-oared crew has had a chance to demonstrate its prowess on the Hudson river will we know how it stands among the critics in regard to its chances in the big Poughkeepsie regatta. As a matter of fact it is something of a far cry since they rowed and won their race against the University of California and a lot of change for better or worse can come about in two months. Some there are who argue that the men have been kept at the grind too long and are likely to be stale. The contention is worthy of consideration.

Whatever else Hagen may be, and he is incontestably one of America's foremost golfers, his showing at the British championships stamps him as a gamester. To go into the preliminaries and just manage to stick on by an eyelash, and then to continue doggedly without thought of discouragement and make the showing he did in the later rounds, cannot but stand to his credit as a virtue that must be a part of any successful athlete, whether he be golfer, oarsman or football player.

The Olympic club of San Francisco this month raised the price of its initiation fee $100—that is, from $200 to $300. The membership of this organization now numbers approximately 5,000 of all classes, including the juniors. There is probably no club in the country of a similar character that is making the money that this club is making. Its revenues are from $1000 to $3000 a month in excess of its operating expenses. A thirty-six-hole golf course is in process of construction at its country club annex.

Hundreds of golfers who closely follow the news of all championship tournaments are wondering who C. A. Whittecombe is who recently led in the Troon championships the eight-eight competitors in the first half of play. One of the charms of the game is the fact that "dark horses" are likely to loom up at any time during a tournament and establish a reputation over night. As a matter of fact, Ouimet and Sarazen may be said to have passed from obscurity to fame in a single leap. John Caven, runnerup last summer in the Brtish amateur championship, was another such player.

By and large, they are men who love the game and continue to play it, always putting their best into it, and, unconsciously, developing an aptitude that is brought out in full only in some big competition.

SPORTS CHATTER

By BILL UNMACK
PACIFIC SPORTS SERVICE

Supposedly, when one reads the news from the training camps of Dempsey and Gibbons, one expects to glean something as to the condition of the principals and what they are doing to get into trim. The publicity boys who are putting Montana on the map make it rather a task to get anything like that out of their "stories." For instance, here's one:

"Jack Dempsey is getting ready for his fight in an honest-to-gosh town with two-story houses, street cars and paved streets. Shelby, where Gibbons has pitched his camp, and the spot where Dempsey is training have only one thing in common—they are both in Montana."

Then the chap who is telling us just what Dempsey and Gibbons are doing and what their condition is goes on to say that where Dempsey is installed the trees stick out of the ground, the grass grows green, the girls wear skirts and the boys have their shoes shined. Gibbons works in a sun-baked, alkali-dried bit of barrenness on the side of a hill, while Dempsey trains in a spot on the Missouri river, fringed with trees, fanned by cool breezes and with all modern conveniences.

The names of Dempsey and Gibbons are merely used to hang onto them a lot of bunk about a couple of places that do not interest the public in the slightest, and when you get to the bottom of the column you wonder what the principals have been doing during the interval.

The match, so called, instantly was recognized as a mere boost proposition and those interested have made no attempt to make anything else out of it. But as sport page stuff, the literary emanation from the camps is the purest of bunk, as the greater part of it comes from press agents whose primary duty is to tell about the place and not the men. It will not be until some boxing critics from reputable papers and news-gathering organizations get there that we will really know anything about the men.

This is not likely to happen until close on to the date of the fight, for the majority of sports writers refuse to take the "battle" seriously, having had one experience in the "battle of the century" when Dempsey simply toyed with Georges Carpentier. With all that was written about this farce in mind, it would be a brash sports writer indeed who would try to duplicate the bunk on his readers another time.

Sports writers are protecting their readers this time from the hokum of the paid press agents.

Rowing Star's Injury Cripples Washington

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 26.—Gloom settled over the University of Washington camp here today with the definite announcement that Dow Walling, stroke of the 'varsity boat in Thursday's inter-collegiate race will be unable to row. Walling is suffering from blood poisoning, the result of a bite on his knee.

The injury of the Washington star gave new hope to other contestants. Cornell, Navy and Syracuse, who were out on the river early today, gave new zest to their time trials and getting away practice. The Pennsylvania and Columbia crews also showed marked improvement.

SCOUTS SIGN UP TO ATTEND CAMP

Eight Vacancies Remain to Be Filled by Glendale Troop Members

"Forty-two local Boy Scouts have already signed up for Camp Royl-Kent for the second ten-day period from June 30 to July 9, which is reserved exclusively for Glendale troops," according to a statement made this morning by Frank C. Ayars, chairman committee on camping. "As the Glendale quota was set at fifty Scouts, this means that there are only eight more places left, and I advise any Scout who is planning on going with the Glendale division, to make "tracks" to his scoutmaster with the application for reservation," he added.

Fifteen patrol leaders and senior patrol leaders will leave at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning, June 27, for the Patrol Leaders' Conference camp, which will be held four days. This special camp is only open to patrol leaders and senior patrol leaders who have already signed up for one of the ten-day troop camps. The patrol leaders' conference camp was authorized by the camping committee for the purpose of equipping patrol leaders with a better perspective of their jobs and to instill in them a working, practical knowledge of the co-operative troop camps. All boys who have made the necessary qualifications for going on this encampment will meet at the district Scout office, 103½ South Brand, not later than 5:45 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Squad Works Fast

"The campsite is rapidly taking on the looks of a real first-class camp," declared Scout Executive Harold Benner, returned late yesterday afternoon from Camp Royl-Kent, where he has been directing construction work by the pioneer squad.

A large Cadillac truck, loaned for the occasion by the Bentley Lumber company, left Glendale for Lake Arrowhead at about 3 o'clock last Saturday morning, loaded with approximately 2000 pounds of camp equipment. H. Park Arnold of 635 North Jackson street, drove the Cadillac and Roger Bentley of 715 North Central avenue was his right-hand lieutenant. Scouts Floyd Craft and Cecil Periera also accompanied the truck.

According to Mr. Benner the camping committee have picked one of the best camp cooks available for this year's camp. He is known as M. Presser and hails from Holland. "Man, oh man! How that cook can cook!" enthusiastically declared Chief Benner.

Mr. Benner left Camp Royl-Kent Monday morning and "at that time," he states, "the camp was about half completed." The pioneer squad is working like beavers to get everything in readiness for the patrol leaders' conference camp, which opens tomorrow.

PROMISE SURPRISE

LOS ANGELES, June 26. — Surprise testimony as a result of district attorney's investigations was expected today when Charles W. Clepper, accused of the murder of Frank J. Bradley in a mystery slaying the night of June 14, was to be given a preliminary hearing before Justice H. Parker Wood. Possibilities loomed that other arrests may follow.

More than 900 children committed suicide in this country last year.

Realty Salesmen To Hear About Listing System

SALESMEN of the local real estate offices working under the multiple listing system will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock, in the Chamber of Commerce reception room, announces Miss Winnifred Traver, office secretary of the Glendale Realty Board.

A special program has been arranged by the multiple listing committee of the board and will be followed by general discussion.

"This system of listing property is being adopted by progressive realty boards throughout the east and middle west," says Miss Traver, "and is rapidly gaining headway in California."

One of the speakers on tonight's program is announced as a salesman in a local office, who was for some time president of a board that worked most successfully under the multiple listing system and who is thoroughly conversant with the benefits to property-owners, buyers and brokers to be derived therefrom.

18th amendment and the Volstead law and declare unequivocally for rigid enforcement.

Coal (Cheyenne)—Absolute opposition to nationalization of the mines, as proposed by the United Mine Workers, and more rigorous supervision of the industry by the government to prevent nation-wide strikes with their inevitable suffering.

Mr. Harding is not making any promises in his speeches. He is rather rendering an account of his stewardship and leaving promises for future delivery by the actual platform carpenters. He is not attempting so much to lay down precise terms as he is endeavoring to map out the broad outlines which he and his political advisers on this trip believe it is necessary to follow in the 1924 platform construction.

Tonight in his Salt Lake City speech another plank on taxation and governmental economy, which will be one of the chief planks, will be put before the audience.

GOLFERS BATTLE FOR LINKS TITLE

Twenty-three Cities Entered In Tournament Held at Washington

By KENNETH W. CLARK
For International News Service

WASHINGTON, June 26.—Over the sun scorched east Potomac park course, 137 contestants struggled today to survive the 36 hole qualifying round of the second annual public links championship tournament.

Included in the list of starters were numerous star amateur golfers who hold honors in sectional, state and city tournaments.

The presence of four entrants from Toronto, Can., added international flavor to the match.

As a result of form displayed by the visiting players, representing 23 golf cities, golf experts predicted that 162 would have to be broken to survive the qualifying cut, only 32 contestants remaining after today to battle for the public links crown.

Because of their brilliant shooting in aiding Chicago win the President Harding trophy in the inter-city team match, E. B. Lloyd and Robert White, 16, the youngest player, loomed strongly as championship possibilities. Both have hovered close to par figures in all rounds over the course.

Russian Archbishop Free Pending Trial

MOSCOW, June 26.—Archbishop Tikhon, former patriarch of the Russian orthodox church, who was arrested on charges of treason and conspiracy by the soviet government was freed from custody today pending his trial.

Legal residence is necessary to bid on government contracts in Argentina.

DANGER IN STUBBORN COUGH

Stubborn coughs that hang on are liable to lead to serious complications and should be checked promptly with Foley's Honey and Tar. "I have not coughed since taking Foley's Honey and Tar. Palmer Canfield, federal prohibition director for New York, about to go bootlegger hunting by airplane

Now that New York state has withdrawn its aid in hunting rum runners by the repeal of the Mullin-Gage act, Palmer Canfield, federal prohibition director for the state of New York, faces the task of plugging the rum leaks along the Canadian border, from the Atlantic and other sources with but a handful of federal agents. This may make it necessary for Canfield to invoke the aid of airplanes.

OFFICIAL MINUTES OF COUNCIL

Following are the official minutes of the City Council which met in session at the City Hall Monday night.

Council assembled at 8 o'clock p. m. Present: Hall, Horn, Davis, Robinson. Absent: Kimlin. Minutes of June 21st read and approved.

Maps

On motion of Councilman Hall, seconded by Councilman Davis, map of Tract No. 4127, same being outside the city, was approved.

SPEED BOYS TO HOLD CONTESTS

Bike, Tricycle and Scooter Races to Take Place on July Fourth

Bicycle, tricycle and "scooter" races will feature the morning of July 4, announces Secretary R. Ernest Tucker of Community Service.

It is planned to have a parade of vehicles of the above types, ancient and modern, gaily bedight, with twenty prizes for winners in the parade and races, the prizes being donated by local bicycle dealers.

The plans call for mobilization on the Glendale Union High school grounds at 9:30 o'clock in the morning, following which the line of cycling will lead up Brand boulevard to a street that will be roped off and dedicated to the races.

Unique Contests

Here will be held a series of unique contests, antique "three-wheelers" vying with 1923 models for superiority.

The contests will be divided into two classes—those for boys and girls under and over 12 years of age.

In addition to prizes for the best appearance in the parade, there will be prizes for the best decorated bicycle, tricycle and for 100-yard, 220-yard, quarter-mile, half-mile, mile and other races.

Enrollment should be made at Mr. Tucker's office in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Jane Addams Injured In Tokio Accident

TOKIO, June 26.—Jane Addams of Chicago, noted settlement worker, is in a Tokio hospital, and all of her engagements have been cancelled. She complained of a pain in her shoulder as a result of a rickshaw fall in Peking two weeks ago. Physicians are in consultation on her case, which they have not been able to clearly diagnose.

LAST TRIBUTE TO JOHN G. HUNTLEY

Many Friends Gather at Forest Lawn to Pay Last Respects

pieces were ones bearing cards from the Rotary club, Chamber of Commerce, all Masonic orders, Tuesday Afternoon club, P. E. O. and countless others from other organizations and friends in Glendale and neighboring cities.

In conducting the service Rev. Ford read the Twenty-third, Twenty-seventh and Ninety-first Psalms and led relatives and friends in the Lord's Prayer. Two vocal numbers, "Lead, Kindly Light" and "No Night There," favorites of Mr. Huntley, were beautifully sung by Mrs. Frank Arnold.

Poem Is Read

Impressive parts of the service was the reading by Rev. Ford of Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar" and the following poem written by C. Leroy Childs:

COMPENSATION

Since I may have so little space to print
My dreams, I pray thee, Author, show me how
To use the small and pregnant words that thrill:
And, if I then may build one phrase
So brief, so clear, so helpful in the work or play
Of men that each will keep in in his heart
I'll be content.

Since my life must be a shortened string
I pray thee, Master, tune it fine and tense
To sound the highest note, that men can hear.
Draw thy bow across it firm and straight
And, so it vibrate once with tone both true and strong
And stir the hope in lonely lives,
It then may break.

From the Little Church of the Flowers relatives and friends gathered about the grave in Forest Lawn for the burial.

Arrangements for the services were conducted by Mr. and Mrs J. E. Phillips of the Jewel City Undertaking company.

C. of C. Resolution

The following resolution of sympathy has been passed by the Board of Directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce.

"Whereas, Through the Providence of Almighty God, our beloved friend and neighbor, John G. Huntley, has been removed from our midst; and,

"Whereas, His death is a common sorrow to us all; and,

"Whereas, We, the Board of Directors of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce, will miss him in the daily intercourse of life; therefore be it

"Resolved, That we, the undersigned, do extend to his sorrowing widow, Mrs. Edith Huntley, and all the direct members of his family, and all friends, who alike grieve over this loss, our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in this, their time of bereavement. Be it further

"Resolved, That this Board of Directors stands ready at all times to render any service possible to this stricken family. Furthermore, be it

"Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Huntley as an expression of our sorrow and sympathy and friendly devotion.

"We loved him, and he is gone. Let us emulate the many splendid virtues of his life.

"BOARD OF DIRECTORS,
"The Glendale Chamber of Commerce."

Phone Girls Demand More Pay, Less Work

BOSTON, June 26.—Telephone girls of five New England states struck at 5 o'clock this morning for an increase of $5 a week and seven hours a day. Between 5500 and 6000 girls answered the strike call, according to Miss Julia S. O'Connor, union president. The strike is in force in Maine, Vermont, Rhode Island, New Hampshire and Massachusetts, with Boston the headquarters.

Seek to Place Blame For Elevated Wreck

NEW YORK, June 26.—Four separate investigations were under way today to fix responsibility for the fatal crash of an elevated train in Brooklyn yesterday in which seven persons were killed and seventy-one injured.

Mayor John F. Hylan was conducting a probe in behalf of the city. District Attorney Charles Dodd of Brooklyn personally headed investigators from his office who sought to place criminal responsibility for the disaster. The public service commission sought facts along the same line. Officials of the transit company conducted an inquiry of their own.

Canada Will Help to Stem Flow of Liquor

OTTAWA, June 26.—Canada, within the next two weeks, will enter into negotiations with the United States to consider the possibility of co-operation to check rum smuggling over the border, it was learned today from an official source.

Premier Mackenzie King admitted that the government had received a communication from Washington asking if it were possible for the dominion to assist in preventing export of liquor into the United States from Canada. Ottawa's reply consisted mainly of a statement of the Canadian law as it exists at present touching such an issue.

MARKETS

NEW YORK, June 26.—The stock market closed heavy today although some issues rallied about a point in the final trading when pressure was relieved from various sections. Steel common recovered to 91⅜. Baldwin Locomotive sold up to 120½, but then dropped to 119. Studebkaer came back to 101. The decline in the rails was also arrested, but there was no sign of a rally.

Government bonds, unchanged; rialway and other bonds heavy.

Sales today—Stocks, 1,055,400 shares; bonds, $8,859,000.

In Wheat Markets

CHICAGO, June 26.—A sharp decline in wheat immediately after the opening was not made up in subsequent trading today, and the closing prices were more than 1 cent under yesterday's last. Other grains were irregular. Reports of excellent quality in new wheat shipments acted as a bearish influence on the wheat market. Wheat closed 1⅞ to 2¼c off. Corn finished ⅛ up to ½ lower. Oats closed ¼ lower. Provisions were irregular, but the market was very dull.

Litigation Looms in School Fund Tangle

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—Additional litigation over the state's financial tangle was foreshadowed when the state board of education, in session here, was notified by Controller Ray L. Riley that $35,000 in newly-appropriated funds of the credentials department must not be drawn upon until the supreme court has ruled on the status of the fund.

Twelve employes of the department must be dropped from the credentials department if the money is not made available in the near future, according to Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction. The state board has not determined as yet whether it will bring suit or whether the point at issue will be covered by some of the other contemplated actions.

Police Probe Attack Story of Two Girls

SACRAMENTO, June 26.—A rigid police investigation has been launched into sensational charges brought by Miss Jean Gardiner, 24, and Mrs. E. Brizendine, 16, against five men arrested with them in a Chinatown shack late Sunday night.

Recovering from a stupefied state believed to have been caused by injections of 'dope," the girls told police today that they were imprisoned in the shack, plied liquor and drugs, and then brutally assaulted.

Father of Hammer Victim Is Sentenced

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—His application for probation denied, Fred Tremaine, 48, father of Alberta Meadows, who was beaten to death with a hammer wielded by Clara Phillips, was sentenced to serve from one to ten years for grand larceny in San Quentin penitentiary. Superior Judge Frank R. Willis asked the man why he did not go to work. Tremaine answered he did not look for a job because he was searching for Clara Phillips.

AWARD CONTRACT TO CARRY MAILS

Sears' Bid for Three Year Period Wins Sunland to L. A. Rural Route

Postmistress Halferty has been notified that the mail-carrying contract between Los Angeles and Sunland, via La Canada, La Crescenta and Tujunga, has been awarded to Orvil L. Sears. The contract covers the period from July 1, 1923, to June 30, 1926. It was stated that Sears underbid the Richardson Transportation company, which has been carrying the mails, by $500.

The bare announcement was all that was received, no indications of change in time of arrival or departure of mails being given.

Street improvement work for Tujunga will be closed for this year with the finishing of grading, oiling and sanding on Haines Canyon road from Monte Vista boulevard to El Centro, and on Olive street from Monte Vista boulevard east. Further improvement work has been promised by the supervisors from funds available after July 1. From Tujunga the county road crew will move to Pennsylvania avenue, La Crescenta, between Michigan avenue and Honolulu.

Veteran Dies

Madison H. Wacasser, father of Mrs. B. B. Reynolds of Tujunga, passed away June 8, 1923, at the Soldiers' Home, Sawtelle, at the age of 78 years. Mr. Wacasser served in the Civil war as a member of the One Hundred and Nineteenth infantry, Illinois. He came to California nine years ago, and had been suffering for some time from a malady pronounced incurable by physicians.

He leaves to mourn, Mrs. B. B. Reynolds of Tujunga, Mrs. J. A. Campbell of Los Angeles, and five other children in the East.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds have planned a visit with relatives in L'Anse, Mich. They will leave July 3, via the northern route. Mr. Reynolds will return the latter part of July, but Mrs. Reynolds will stop at Kansas City and Joplin, Mo., and El Paso, Tex., where she will visit her relatives.

Name Two Judges to Handle Probate Work

LOS ANGELES, June 25.—To handle the work formerly presided over by Judge James C. Rives who died last week, two divisions of the superior court will take over probate matters beginning September 1. The two divisions will be presided over by Judges Frank R. Willis and Paul J. McCormick. During the summer, Judge Ralph L. Clock will take charge of probate cases.

Morbid curiosity will gather a crowd and the fear of the witness stand will disperse it.

TUJUNGA VALLEY TEAM IS BEATEN

Third Straight Game Lost to C. Celas Nine in Sunday Contest

Tujunga Valley continued the wild slide on the toboggan by dropping a 9 to 4 game to C. Celas Sunday at Monte Vista park. This is the third straight loss sustained by the home crew who seemed to have formed the habit of turning the other cheek.

Nineteen hits were gathered by Celas off Bedwell, while Tujunga Valley could get but seven. Each contributed four boots to the day's pastime. Brandstetter was the only one to get more than a two-base hit. He poked out a triple.

Both scored in the first inning and Tujunga Valley went into the lead in the third. It gave promise of being a good game, but the promise became delinquent as the Celas gang continued to pound Bedwell, scoring in every inning, except three. Tujunga Valley scored their final run in the seventh.

The game was slow, going two hours and thirty minutes.

More Special Guests For Music Club Meet

Mr. and Mrs. J. Herbert Smith, representing the Rotary club, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Baird, representing the music committee of the Community Service, have been added to the list of special guests at the Glendale Music club banquet Frriday night.

OIn announcing these additiona' names Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, club president, speaks most enthusiastically of what will undoubtedly be the most brilliant affair the club has ever had.

She states that all members and friends desiring to attend the banquet and program, and who have not already made reservations through Mrs. Helen Campbell, should secure tickets at the Glendale Book store, the Glendale Music store or the Glendale Pharmacy. No reservations will be accepted after Wednesday noon.

Seattle Ball Club Wins Suit Advantage

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26.—The Seattle Baseball club won the first round of its war Monday with President William H McCarthy of the Pacific Coast league to force the seating of Charles Lockard as a director of the Seattle club in the league when Federal Judge John S. Partridge denied a motion of Harry L. Stafford, counsel for the league and McCarthy, to dismiss the action.

Rupture of Seals on British Booze Legal

LONDON, June 26.—The British government does not see any grounds for protest against the breaking of British customs seals upon liquor taken into American ports on English ships, Premier Stanley Baldwin announced this afternoon. "The acts were legal within United States territorial waters."

The one who has met with reverses is well prepared to face them again.

She claims the child as her daughter. A Chicago judge is acting the Solomon role.

BANDITS SOUGHT BY L. A. OFFICERS

Police Spread Dragnet for Members of Gang After Two Are Killed

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—Following a sensational gun battle on downtown streets between alleged bandit leaders and a lone police officer, in which two paroled convicts were shot to death and Police Sergeant Arthur W. Bethel probably was mortally wounded, police today launched a strenuous drive to round up other members of the alleged bandit gang. Mr. and Mrs. E. Bineham, L. H. Anderson and James McArthur were jailed as suspects while others are being sought.

The battle was fought as Sergeant Bethel was compelling Edwin Frohn and Melvin Bayes, at the point of a pistol, to drive him to the police station where they were to be arrested on a charge of burglary. Frohn was shot dead at the wheel of the car as it sped down an incline. A pedestrian sprang aboard and guided the automobile to the station door.

ASK TERMS FOR BOUT WITH WILLS

New York Promoter Would Match Dempsey With Black Panther

By DAVIS J. WALSH
For International News Service

SHELBY, Mont., June 26.—All of three thousand miles away, it remained for Simon Flaherty, New York promoter, to furnish the only item of diversion emanating from this rain-soaked hamlet today. He wired the facts of a proposed meeting between Jack Dempsey and Harry Wills, in or around New York, his contribution being nothing less than the assurance that the black man could go on, as advertised.

The message was entirely extraneous to any and all matter pertaining to the Dempsey-Gibbons bout here July 4, thus giving the impression that Mr. Flaherty, as well as others, is taking the local championship contest, so-called, for granted. His wire to Kearns, relayed via Great Falls, follows:

"Am assured of getting Wills' license as you are of getting Dempsey's license. Wire your best terms for Labor day bout, Dempsey vs. Wills."

No Money Mentioned

The proposed enterprise will take place in Mr. Flaherty's stadium-in-prospect at Long Island City, N. Y. The gentlemen in question, however, makes no mention of a definite guarantee to cover Dempsey's services and thus evades any possibility of engaging Mr. Kearns' varied attention.

The latter is pretty much fed up with offers that start from nowhere and end pretty much the same, and as far as is known, he is inclined to look upon the Long Island City incident as just one of those annoyances that is bound to crop up in the daily mail.

He, however, is pleased to note that some one, outside of Shelby, Mont., is disposed to regard money with a deprecating shrug of an indifferent shoulder. The local angels still have $100,000 in very pleasing American money to raise before the July 4th proposition can go on, but, according to prophecies, they will locate the required sum inside of 48 hours.

MONTH'S PERMITS REACH $600,000

Firm Disposes of Immense Stock as First Move In Incorporation

The Page Furniture Company's great $40,000 reorganization sale opened promptly at 9 o'clock this morning with a rush of early buyers, attracted to the 306 East Broadway store by yesterday's announcement of unparalleled offers.

William C. Page, proprietor of the store, does not hesitate to state the facts in connection with this sale.

"We are reorganizing our entire business and are incorporating under the laws of California. In order to carry out our plans for putting this store on a basis to meet present conditions, we find it necessary to convert a huge quantity of our stock into spot cash.

"We want $20,000 at once—and to get it we are selling at a heavy loss merchandise that would bring over twice that sum if offered at standard prices.

Must Raise Money

"Our loss will be the public's gain, as is usually the case when a merchant is forced to liquidate. Stern necessity is our master. We must raise money—and there is no quicker way to get it in this business than to slash prices and force selling to the limit.

"This we are doing, on all manner of household goods, from furniture to carpets. And those who have dealt with the Page Furniture Company know what kind of a stock it is we carry and what it means when we turn this stock loose at such prices as these. Our goods have always been of the very best. It is this high quality merchandise we are offering at our store, starting today, at prices that are in many instances below wholesale."

The Page Furniture Company was closed for two days in preparation of this great sale.

Newcomer Starts in Realty and Insurance

With the opening of the office of the Roof Realty & Insurance Co., in the south room of the C & S Cafeteria building at 220 North Brand boulevard, a new firm is added to the ranks of the real estate and insurance men in Glendale. J. Fred Roof, the proprietor, comes here from Ontario, Calif., where he has been engaged in this line of busness for several years. Before coming to this state he was engaged in the lumber business in Iowa, gaining an intimate knowledge of building and contracting. Mr. Roof and his family are making their home at 545 West Doran street.

Shake-Up in Sheriff Office Is Predicted

LOS ANGELES, June 26.—A drastic shakeup in the sheriff's office was rumored with possible dismissal of certain deputy sheriffs, as the result of a conference between Sheriff William I. RECEIVER NAMED FOR N. Y. BROKERS

Crash Follows Bankruptcy Announcement Made in Stock Exchange

NEW YORK, June 26.—The firm of Einstein, Ward & Company crashed into bankruptcy today when a receiver was appointed under $10,000 bond.

Announcement that the company had failed to meet its financial obligations was made on the floor of the stock exchange immediately after the opening of trading yesterday.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy had been filed against the firm Saturday. Today Federal Judge Knox appointed W. C. Pitts as receiver.

The firm was a member of the stock exchange.

Dual Personality

"It was too late for my 'husband' to renounce me then," said the strange creature, still maintaining his role as a woman—mincing his words and arching his eyebrows. "And so we continued to live together."

Early in the examination Thompson told police he had, during almost the whole of his thirty-three years of life been subject to a dual personality—one that of a man—a real "caveman"—and the other that of a cringing, fearful woman whose most besetting fear was of the contempt in which he knew both women and men would hold him if they discovered his masquerade.

British Minister to Confer With Colonists to Fix Future Attitude

PEKING, June 26.—Much speculation was aroused today by the departure of the British minister to Shanghai, where, it is understood, he will hold discussions with the British colony on the future attitude of the British in China.

The provisional Chinese government is endeavoring to forestall expected foreign control measures by re-organization of the railway protection forces.

Ex-President Li Yuan Hung, forced from office by the militarists, has addressed another letter of complaint to the diplomatic body. The representatives of the foreign powers, however, are continuing studiously to avoid interference in domestic affairs.

THE GLENDALE

"Over the Hill" is being revived at the Glendale Theatre today and tomorrow. This will be good news to two classes of people—those who have seen the picture and those, who have not—for it will give the former a long-waited opportunity to see it again and will present the latter their chance to join the millions who have laughed and cried and thrilled over this immortal celluloid portrayal of human joy and sorrow.

The author of "Over the Hill" was Will Carleton. It was one of his famous "Farm Ballads," that had such a wide appeal a generation ago. But the director, Harry Millarde, and the scenarioist Paul H. Sloane, are responsible for the great success this William Fox film has been.

They share this pleasurable responsibility with a splendid cast of capable players, including Mary Carr, as "mother"; and William Welsh, Sheridan Tansey, Noel Tearle, Johnnie Walker, Vivienne Osborne and Jerry Devine.

DEPART ON TRIP TO FORMER HOME

George McLeod and Wife Leave for Canada to See Old Friends

Mr. and Mrs. George McLeod of 1345 East Colorado street leave tonight by train for Vancouver, B. C., on the first leg of a long trip back to their former home in Woodstock, New Brunswick, Canada.

They will go via the Canadian Pacific from Vancouver, stopping off at Okanogan Valley, B. C., thence on through Lake Louise, Banff and Calgary to Woodstock.

Arrived at this latter place, they plan to make it their headquarters for some time, during which they will enjoy trips through the "maritime provinces."

Won By Glendale

Mr. and Mrs. McLeod will return to Glendale around the latter part of the year. They came here in November of 1919, planning to stay three months, and stayed over three years instead. When they return this time they will make Glendale their permanent home.

Their son, D. K. McLeod, is at present a resident of Glendale, living at 1336 East Orange Grove avenue, where he will remain with his family while his parents are on their visit to their former home.

VISIT EAST WITH BAND OF PIPERS

Glendale Folks Back From Grotto Convention and Trip to Old Home

Thomas G. Macdougall and son Alex of 128 West Elk avenue have returned from a delightful trip east with the Jinnistan Grotto Scottish bagpipe band, of which they are members. They went by special train with the band and patrol from Los Angeles, to Cleveland, Ohio, to attend the Grotto national three day convention. It is interesting to note that, while contingents of the Grotto came from different parts of Canada, Los Angeles sent the only pipers' band that was in attendance.

The L. A. Contingent, which numbered sixty, was presented with a handsome silver cup, as a prize for having come from the greatest distance of any party present. Mr. Macdougall and Alec left the Los Angeles party at Cleveland and enjoyed a boat trip to Buffalo, visited Niagara Falls, then went south to Cincinnati, from there to Knoxville and Chattanooga, Tenn., and on to New Orleans, visiting relatives at each one of the cities.

They left Ohio in time to escape the recent terrible heat and found enjoyable weather in every place they stopped. At El Paso, on the return trip, they had the trying experience of being delayed eighteen hours, by a flood in the Rio Grande, which had damaged the railroad bridge. This is Mr. Macdougall's first trip to Cincinnati, his former home, in seven years.

AT BIG BEAR LAKE

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bentley of 527 North Orange street, are spending the week at the Bentley cabin on the shores of Big Bear Lake. They are accompanied by their four children, Howard, Helen, Lois and Wayne. Mr. Bentley is one of the owners of the Bentley Lumber company at 460 West Los Feliz Road.

Dogs Welcome But Not Children, Apartment House Seeker Learns In Glendale

By GIL A. COWAN

"APARTMENTS for rent. No children." It is an old story, that, but just as true today in Glendale as any other city where owners of apartment houses have forgotten they were children, or that they had children and had to live some place. It was called to the writer's attention by a Washington visitor, who is somewhat of a practical joker, also the father of two husky youngsters.

"You have an apartment to rent?" he asked the landlady. "Yes," she replied, in more than one instance. "And you allow me to keep a dog?" he added, although he has no canine. "Certainly," was the answer. "Well, that's fine. I have a couple of boys, too," he continued.

And then the atmosphere of Glendale becomes suddenly chilly. The landlady in almost every instance swallows Adam's old apple, and stammers, "The apartment will not be vacated for a week—if then." So the quest is continued in search of a place where children are welcome.

It so happens that this visitor in our midst is a banker and broker. He is able to buy two or three apartment buildings, and no telling but what he will invest here—provided this unwelcome attitude is not too apparent. He did find an apartment, out of the way, and very reasonable in price, yet the first thing he had to do was "sweep out"

Why Blame Youngsters?

Apartments in Glendale are numerous, and it is necessary for their owners and managers to keep them in the best of shape if they are to be attractive. And let it be said that youngsters usually do not damage a building half as much as their careless elders. Family folks, most of whom have had their own homes, are better tenants than those more accustomed to apartment house life, yet it is difficult to make landlords see the light.

* * *

Hotel owners have found that dogs are the most undesirable attributes of transient tenants. Other guests do not take kindly to pets which are allowed to snoop around the hall, that bark at the stranger's footfall and climb all over people in their friendly moments.

Dogs tear the bedclothes, chew the furniture and cause the management of the house no end of worry. In several of the larger hotels throughout the state special accommodations are being made for pets in the basement, while children find high approval. They afford guests no end of impromptu entertainment, and they are traveling advertisements during their young lifetime as to the various places they have stopped and the treatment accorded them.

Restaurants, also, have built up large family trade by having high chairs and special dishes for the kiddies. There is no reason why Glendale boosters should not cater to children.

* * *

Builders of bungalows in Glendale might do well to take into consideration the junior generation. With some of the left-over material a swing, or sand box, can be built, and when the family comes to look over the place the little boy or girl may turn the sale by falling in love with the incidental plaything.

Good Selling Point

A playroom is another good selling point for the builders of homes. It can be placed on the second floor as part of sun porch or extra outdoor sleeping room. Practically every family that plans their own home includes just such arrangements as mentioned.

Glendale being a city of homes, the architects should take the whole family into consideration. Double garages, flower garden plots, playground room and large porches, not to forget shower baths, heating systems and lots of windows, are among the many features which are desirable to some one or more members of the family circle.

And, if your place has all of these attributes, when it comes time to advertise you can truthfully say: "All that the word home implies."

LOCAL TEACHERS TO ATTEND MEET

Education Association Will Hold Convention Next Week in Oakland

The National Education Association's annual convention, which will meet next week in Oakland, will be attended by about twenty educators from Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. George U. Moyse of 322 East Harvard street, principal and vice principal of Glendale Union High school, expect to motor to the bay cities. When the convention is over, they will continue northward on a vacation trip and hope to get as far as Vancouver.

A sextette of teachers from the high school faculty have registered at the University of California Summer School at Berkeley. They will attend the convention as part of their studies. Their names are: Miss Iva Hunter of 320 Hawthorne, Miss Aileen Renison of Eagle Rock; Miss Ellen J. Hanson of 119 North Kenwood street; Miss Mary Gladys Corry of 403 North Louise street; Miss Evelyn Haney of 202½ South Brand boulevard, and Miss Zula Zeigler of Los Angeles.

Other members of the high school faculty, who expect to attend the convention are Vice-principal A. L. Ferguson of 525 North Jackson street; Earl T. Brown of Los Angeles and Miss Inez Ledyard of 511 South Louise street.

Richardson D. White of 233½ South Orange street, superintendent of grammar schools, expects to make the trip to San Francisco Saturday night on the Owl. Other teachers, who will attend, will be Mrs. Mary Ryan of 316 North Maryland avenue, principal of the Broadway school; Miss Ida M. Waite, of 535 East Lomita avenue, principal of the Colorado School; Miss Carol Duncan of 1607 South San Fernando road, member of the faculty of the Wilson Avenue Intermediate School, and her sister, Mrs. Lois Duncan Cate of 406 West Broadway, kindergarten assistant at the Cerritos school.

Ray L. Morrow Aids In Kidnaping Fish

Nineteen fish are missing this week from Lake Arrowhead. They were kidnaped over the week-end by a fishing party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Ray L. Morrow of 328 Patterson avenue and Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Shepherd of Los Angeles. They attended the opening of Arlington Lodge.

PRESENTS PUPILS IN DANCE PLAYS

Dorothy Wright's Students Stage Artistic Show In K. of C. Hall

A program of pretty dance plays was presented Friday night in the Knights of Columbus hall at 320 East Lomita avenue, by pupils of Miss Dorothy Wright, teacher of nature dancing.

Boughs of natural greenery were cleverly arranged in the background, transforming the stage into a wooded dell.

Solo dances were given by Evelyn Peebles, who represented a "Dancing Doll," Helen Robertson, who danced with her big balloon; Betty Hitchcock, as a "Wood Nymph," and Barbara Braun, who demonstrated the characteristic "Gollywog"; Mahala Wichert danced a very expressive Gypsy dance and later a symbolic creation called "Spring's Awakening." The "Russian Dance of the Wheat" was given by Lois Brown.

The closing number, "The Coming of Spring," was a picture poem without words, in which the elements of nature were brought together with the trees and flowers in a lovely and realistic allegory. The characters were as follows: Dawn, Mahala Wichert; Sun, Evelyn Prebles; Spring, Lois Brown; Flowers, Betty Hitchcock, Helen Robertson and Barbara Braun; Pool, Jane Thompson; Trees, Hannah Johnson, Dora Hermes, Barbara Carlyon; Storm, Mahala Wichert; Butterflies, Catherine Bean and Doris Postlewhaite.

An audience of approximately 300 friends and parents of the pupils were present.

MISSIONARY IS CHURCH SPEAKER

Conditions in China Shown In Address Given by Returned Worker

Miss Eda Johnson of Los Angeles was an interesting speaker at the Casa Verdugo church at the Sunday morning service, which was in charge of the Women's Foreign Missionary society. Devotional service was opened by Mrs. E. E. Masters, president. Mrs. J. C. Lennox offered prayer and Mrs. A. Linn read the scripture lesson. Miss Beatrice Sasse sang a soprano solo, "When the Roses Bloom." "Let Your Light So Shine," was rendered by the choir.

Miss Johnson has returned from China after spending five years in active work in the Memorial hospital near Fukien, a distance of 175 miles from Foochow. The journey to this station requires a period of five days to cover this distance, owing to poor conditions of roads. She describes with wonderful clearness, the many strange and interesting incidents in the life of the natives with whom she has come in personal contact, in her work in the hospital. She especially emphasized the present need of the establishment of day schools, in conjunction with the medical work and a generous subscription was made by the congregation in response to an appeal for material support.

Rev. J. C. Livingston delivered the sermon at the evening service taking as his theme, "How May We Know We are Christians?"

The choir rendered the selection, "Shades of Evening."

E. H. Peterson Buys Interest of Partner

E. H. Peterson, realtor, of 282 Honolulu avenue, La Crescenta, announces that he has bought out his partner, J. S. Tallmadge, and hereafter will conduct the business alone.

Mr. Peterson's home address is 145 West Piedmont avenue, La Crescenta. He says he likes the climate of the town and that the people there have shown themselves friendly toward him. Business, he says, is average for this season, and there are indications of a decided pick-up in the near future.

Mr. Peterson was formerly with the Circle Real Estate company, of 120 North Brand boulevard, Glendale.

Ask Sign Changes at Glendale Entrances

Changes in signs at the entrances to Glendale, suggested in a communication from the Glendale Realty Board, last night was referred to Mayor Spencer Robinson and Councilman W. A. Horn by the City Council.

According to this request, the lettering on the existing signs over San Fernando Road at Brand boulevard, should be made to read: "Glendale—San Fernando Road" at San Fernando Road and Broadway, "Glendale—San Fernando Road—Broadway, and at Broadway and the eastern city limits, "Glendale—Broadway."

THE RAINBOW — By Morris

Ex-Traffic Officer Is Visitor at Lodge

"Charlie" L. Dice of Los Angeles, former local motorcycle officer, came to Glendale last night to attend the session of the Elks. On March 6 about 5 p. m. he was thrown from his motorcycle, as a county speed officer, while he was chasing a speeder toward Los Angeles on Santa Monica boulevard in the vicinity of La Brea. An automobile, driven by Fred Atula of Los Angeles, cut in and forced his motorcycle to the curb and hurled Officer to the ground. His right leg was broken in three places and his skull fractured.

Atula was fined $250 and given a sixty-day jail sentence. He has appealed the case.

After spending eight weeks in the county hospital, Dice was given the position of official headlight tester in the county garage, Los Angeles.

LEAVES HOSPITAL

Mrs. Paul Hall of 1230 East Wilson avenue, who was operated upon three weeks ago, Sunday was able to leave the Glendale Research hospital.

Sunday School Will Have Picnic Outing

Members of the Sunday school of the Church of Divine Realization are to journey to Brookside park tomorrow afternoon for a picnic outing.

Those desiring to attend are to meet at the C. R. Carmack home, 811 South Central avenue, at 12 o'clock. There will be a truck with competent driver and chaperones to take the picnickers to the park and return at 8 o'clock.

RALPH W. BROWNE COMMITTEE HEAD

Chosen to Arrange Program For Glendale Day at Big Exposition

The American Historical Revue and Motion Picture Exposition will observe Thursday, July 19, as Glendale Day.

The Glendale Chamber of Commerce has appointed Ralph W. Browne of 215 North Brand boulevard to take charge of the local participation in the celebration. Mr. Brown states that he expects to be able to arrange a very fine program.

Altogether over a million dollars has been spent upon this pageant, which will be staged under the auspices of the moving picture interests. Every notable film star of Hollywood, Los Angeles, Universal City and Culver City is scheduled to spend allotted time at the exposition. Filmdom's own presentation, "The Location," showing the birth, growth and present stage of its industry, will be one of the outstanding features of the exposition.

Completion of the exterior decorations has entailed months of work on the part of landscape architects and a corps of more than a hundred gardeners. Tropical and semi-tropical plants have been imported from South and Central American countries.

Exchange Club Will Hear Memory Expert

David M. Roth of Los Angeles, author of the Roth Memory Course, will be the speaker tomorrow noon at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse at the weekly luncheon of the Glendale Exchange club.

Mr. Roth, who formerly lived in New York City before he was lured westward by the charm of California, is nationally known for his remarkable memory. Among his feats is that of remembering several hundred persons, whom he has never met before, by name, following a first introduction.

"Originally, I had a very poor memory," remarked Mr. Roth recently, while in Glendale. "However, I realized that my memory was exceptionally poor and, therefore, took pains to improve it. The system, which I developed, can be used by anyone with equal results."

TODAY—Peace at Last in Ireland; De Valera's Last Threat; the New Government.

TOMORROW—No Privacy for President; Must Always Make Speech.—By George R. Holmes, Washington correspondent.

By DANIEL O'CONNELL
For International News Service

DUBLIN, June 26.—Peace has arrived in Ireland. There have been a few occasional shots to disturb the midnight air, but these have only been a reminder of what has been, and the Republicans are not seriously carrying on the fight. Of course they were beaten some months ago, and their leaders were only struggling to carry on the bluff to get Cosgrave and the Free State ministers to make some form of compromise, so that the Republicans could by some means or other attain a new lease of political life. Probably the worst threat that the government had to deal with was the threat by the De Valeraites to close all places of amusement.

That was not so much a threat to the government as it was to the people. The intention was to bully the people by intimidation of the bomb, the pistol and the mine. It was the cruelest kind of war conceivable on a defenseless people. The Irish people were to be shut out from all amusements. Not even the cinemas were to be open to the people after a day's toil.

The cinema people complied with the order on the first night, but the government took drastic action immediately and ordered them to remain open. Everybody complied, though in Cork the managers had on one occasion to be arrested and taken to their shows and made to open their doors. Though it was the easiest thing in the world to place a mine or a bomb in a well-packed theatre, the people flocked along just the same as usual, and, though one or two theatres were blown up as a reprisal for carrying on, the intimidation failed.

This more than anything else helped to hasten the end. The opinion, which remained neutral between the Free Staters and the Republicans, immediately swung to the government against a policy which the Black and Tans even in their worst days never thought of. And now the government is getting along just normally and as evenly as the government in Washington is. Of course, there may be a few more spasmodic outbreaks, but all is over, bar the shouting. When De Valera ordered the cessation of hostilities it was more from necessity than a generous desire for peace. The De Valeraites were beaten and had not the men nor the heart to carry on the fight.

Ireland is preparing for a general election. It is expected that Cosgrave will dissolve the Dail in July and that the new Dail will assemble in September. Who will form the new government? Certainly not the De Valera party. I do not think that, outside County Kerry, any member of that party will get returned. Cork is ninety-nine per cent Free State, and De Valera himself has hardly a ghost of a shance of retaining his seat in County Clare. After the last election it was thought probable that a labor government was a certainty in the near future. Under the leadership of Thomas Johnson they became the second strongest party in the state, but both in tactics and speech in the Dail they proved themselves most ineffective. It is doubtful even if they will maintain their present members. Undoubtedly the Free Staters will again be in power, strengthened by a powerful commercial element.

There is a likelihood that Cosgrave will retire as soon as he has completed the task of putting the Free State on its feet. He has been in indifferent health for a considerable time and has only been kept in office by patriotic motives and so that the task that Griffith and Michael Collins set out to complete would eventually be accomplished. Should Cosgrave retire, and many say he probably will, he will be succeeded by Kevin O'Higgins, who is now home minister and the ablest man in the Dail cabinet. O'Higgins, who is barely over thirty, has in the space of twelve months or so worked himself into the forefront of Irish politics. Though he was hardly heard of even in Dublin a year ago, he is now one of the most-talked-of statesmen. His speeches and direct and forcible language appeal to the masses.

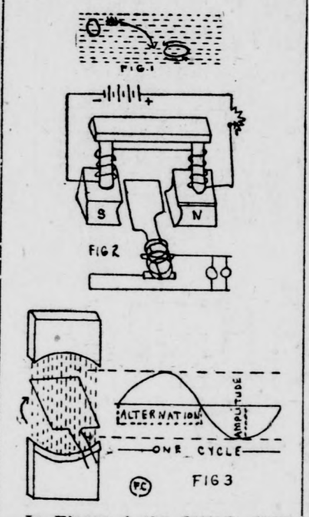
RADIO

BY FRANK CHAPMAN

COURSE IN RADIO—CHAPTER 11
Induction Coil

DUE to the current flowing through the primary of the induction coil and to the counter electromotive force that is developed by the coil there is considerable sparking at the vibrator points. This sparking burns the contact points away, and the fixed condenser, which is connected across these contacts, is for the purpose of absorbing part of this sparking and preventing injury to the contact points.

Induction coils were used a great deal during the early history of radio and for a time as emergency sets in later day ship installations but have been condemned by the Government. Occasionally some amateur fan installs one for his transmitting set and generally causes considerable interference in his vicinity until stopped by the Radio Inspector. Induction coils have bene supplanted by the alternating current transformer which will be described in detail later on in the course.



In Figure 1 the dotted lines represent a magnetic field. The arrow shows the direction of the lines of force. In this magnetic field we have a coil of wire which moves downward in the direction of the large arrow and an electric current is generated, which will flow in the direction of the two small arrows. This leads up to the simple alternator shown in figure 2. An alternator is a generator which delivers alternating current, which is abbreviated A. C. In this simple alternator only one coil of wire is shown, while in practice there are a large number of wires known as the armature. N and S are permanent magnets, F. being the field and C the collector rings which deliver the current to the brushes. Two brushes rest on the collector rings which convey the current to the external circuit.

The action produced by a single revolution of this coil of wire follows: When the coil is in a horizontal position (nearest the magnets) a maximum voltage will be created and as the coil moves around to a vertical position the current gradually falls to zero. Then, as the armature goes further, the field builds up again until it reaches maximum and in one complete revolution of the coil the current flows first in one direction and then in the opposite direction and in this case, a complete cycle is made.

Analyzing the simple alternator we find it consists of magnet revolving coil, brushes and collector rings. The magnetic field is usually produced by electro-magnets. The number of poles may be different but they must always be of an even number. If we had a machine of eight poles we would then have more than one cycle per revolution, it would then be 4 cycles. The frequency of current produced by an alternator is equivalent to the number of cycles produced per second. The following formula determines the frequency: Where F is cycles per second—N is number of poles—S revolutions per second.

$$F = \frac{N \times S}{2}$$

Commercial frequencies are 25 and 60.

Figure 3 is another view of a simple alternator and at the side of it a plot showing how the current acts during one complete revolution of the armature, or one cycle, starting at the left hand side of the curved line where it starts moving upward. In this case the rotor (revolving coil) in the position shown in the drawing will have zero current flowing through it. As the coil moves from this position the current is built up until it reaches its peak when the rotor will be in a vertical position in this drawing, then after reaching that peak it starts to drop following the motion of the armature. It drops to zero. Then, as the rotor keeps moving, the current reverses and does the same thing in the opposite direction, the line showing one complete cycle. The faster this machine would run the more cycles we would have. Study this drawing carefully and you will understand the principle of the alternator thoroughly.

When the current is built-up to its peak that is known as the amplitude and when it travels from zero to maximum and back to zero, that is an alternation. Two alternations make one cycle or period. On 25 cycle current you can notice the rise and fall of current but on 60 cycle it is too rapid for the eye to follow.

POINTERS

If you get your detector tubes mixed up with the amplifier the added voltage may paralyze the detector tube.

If rattling noises are heard when any of the dials are turned it is probably due to a loose connection.

If you have a regenerative set and get local stations loud and clear, but don't get out of town stations, try reversing the tickler coil connections.

Uncle Wiggily Bedtime Stories

— BY HOWARD R. GARIS —

UNCLE WIGGILY PLAYS GOLF

Once upon a time Uncle Wiggily saw Mr. Whitewash, the polar bear gentleman, walking up over the hill with a bag of clubs on his shoulder.

"Oh, Mr. Whitewash!" exclaimed the bunny rabbit, "are you going to beat the dust out of a carpet that you carry so many clubs in a bag?"

"Indeed, I am going to do nothing of the sort," answered the polar bear gentleman with a smile that showed his red tongue and white teeth. "I am going to play golf."

"Oh, that funny game where you knock a ball into the bushes and then see how long a time you can take finding it—that's golf, isn't it, Mr. Whitewash?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Something like that," answered the shaggy, jolly bear. "It is a good game to play all by yourself, if you can't get anyone to go with you. And as the hot summer is coming on, and as I don't like to think of it, I am taking up golf to make the time pass more quickly."

"I wonder if golf wouldn't be good for me?" spoke up Uncle Wiggily.

"What is the matter with you?" Mr. Whitewash asked.

"Oh, my nose doesn't twinkle as pinkly as it did when I was younger," said the bunny. "Not that it matters so much——"

"Golf is the very thing for you!" exclaimed the polar bear gentleman. "Get yourself a bag of clubs, some white rubber balls and come with me."

So Uncle Wiggily did, and he and Mr. Whitewash had jolly good times playing golf in the hills and dales for many a day. Then, once upon a time, came a morning when the polar bear gentleman could not go out on the links, as the golf field is called.

"Well, I'll go by myself and play the golf game," though Uncle Wiggily. So with his bag of funny clubs and some of the round, hard, white rubber balls he set off over the hills.

"When will you be back," asked Nurse Jane, standing in the doorway of the hollow stump bungalow.

"When I make some good shots," answered Uncle Wiggily, and he whistled a merry tune and looked in a pool of shining water. "Ah, my nose is twinkling very pink," he said, laughing. "Golf is doing it good."

So the rabbit gentleman knocked the little round, hard, white ball over the fields and through the woods, from hole to hole, and he felt very gay and happy, just to be out of doors in the singing wind and the warm sunshine.

Uncle Wiggily had almost finished his game of golf, and he was making a shot for the last hole when, all of a sudden, out from under a scraggily bush crawled the Skillery Scallery Alligator.

"Oh!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily, for he was surprised to see the 'Gator.

"Oh!" grunted the 'Gator, for he was surprised to see Uncle Wiggily. "What are you doing here?" asked the Skillery Scallery chap.

"I'm playing golf!" answered the bunny. "It's a game something like croquet and baseball made into one," he added, for he saw the 'Gator opening his big mouth to ask another question.

"So it's a game, is it?" grumbled the Alligator. "Well, I'm playing a game, also. It's called ears. I nibble your ears. It's going to be a sort of breakfast and lunch made into one for me, as I am very hungry."

"Do you mean you are going to eat my ears?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"You have guessed it!" laughed the 'Gator. "That's my game."

The rabbit gentleman thought quickly. He looked at his golf clubs and he looked at the little, hard, round, white rubber golf ball. He looked at the big open mouth and red throat of the Alligator.

"I'm playing golf," answered the bunny.

"Will you let me finish my golf game before you begin your ear game?" asked the rabbit.

"Yes," growled the 'Gator. "But, mind you, no running away."

Uncle Wiggily promised he wouldn't run away. He put the ball down on the ground and then, standing in front of the Alligator, the bunny gentleman swung his club once, he slung his club twice, he swung his club three times and then he hit the ball. Oh, such a whack as he hit it And the hard rubber golf ball went right into the open mouth of the Alligator, and it went down his throat and it choked him and tickled him.

"Oh, wozie! Wouch! Gurgle-urgle-urk!" howled the 'Gator, and then he turned a big flip-flop somersault and fell down and Uncle Wiggily ran home.

"I holed out and finished my game!" he laughed, "and the 'Gator hasn't begun his ear game yet! Ha! Ha! Ha!"

So this teaches us that golf is a very useful thing to know. And if the sugar cookie doesn't hide under the milk pitcher where the slice of bread can't tag it, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily shaving a pig.

Billy Whiskers

By Frances Trego Montgomery

"There are six locks or gates in all," went on Billy's companion, who was proud to be able to tell such a distinguished goat as Billy all about the canal. "One passing through the canal can sit out on deck and enjoy the lovely view of mountains, valleys, lakes and rivers, whose sides and banks are covered with tropical foliage; stately palms and gorgeous flowers and trailing vines, with birds with brilliant plumage flitting here and there. And the engineers say a vessel can be towed from ocean to ocean, a distance of fifty miles, in twelve hours, allowing for the time that is spent in the locks at that. Oh, I tell you it is one of the wonders of the civilized world!"

"I wish my two friends were here to hear you explain all this, and to see it as I am seeing it now," remarked Billy.

"Your two friends? Have you two goats traveling with you?"

"No, not goats, but a dog and a cat."

"A cat? I never heard of a goat and a cat being friends before."

"Few have, but such is the case, and a goat never had two such lovely, thoroughly chummy friends before. We have traveled over a good part of the world together on boats and trains and have even been up in aeroplanes. Yes, I made the trip from New York City to San Francisco in aeroplanes."

"Well, well! I do declare, but you are a daring traveler, sure enough! I have never been farther away from the city of Panama than ten miles."

"Hark! I hear someone coming," said Billy.

"You do?" asked the old goat in a frightened voice. "What shall we do?"

"Stand perfectly still and don't move until we see who it is. If we move they may hear us, while if we keep still they may not come this way."

"Pray that they don't, for I am not so used to adventure as you are."

But the steps came nearer and nearer and they sounded loud and heavy as if belonging to a large man. This made the old goat have visions of being kicked with those same strong boots, and his old, bony sides ached in anticipation.

Not so Billy. He rather awaited with joy the approach of whoever was coming, as he wished the pleasure of showing the old goat how cleverly and quickly he could dispose of anyone he did not want around.

As the steps drew nearer he distinguished the sound of another pair of feet that advanced with a quick, pattering step.

"Hush!" whispered the old goat. "They are nearly here!"

(You will have to wait until tomorrow's story to see who was coming.)

Who's Who in the Day's News

SEN. SAMUEL L. RALSTON

THE name of Senator Samuel L. Ralston of Indiana is mentioned among the first when talk in political gatherings turns toward Democratic presidential candidate possibilities next year. Democratic leaders who are not enthusiastic regarding the outlook for William Gibbs McAdoo, or Oscar W. Underwood for the nomination, see in Ralston a strong candidate to present to the convention.

S.M. RALSTON

The one thing that might militate against the Hoosier senator is his age. He is sixty-six.

Ralston looks like the late Grover Cleveland did during his second term in the White House. His friends like to discuss his strong resemblance to Cleveland and assert that he is very much like the one-time popular president not only in ways but character.

Ralston was born December 1, 1857, in Tuscarawas county, Ohio, the son of John and Sarah Scott Ralston, both of Scotch-Irish descent. His great-grandfather on his father's side of the house came to this country from Scotland as a boy. On his mother's side of the family he is the grandson of Alexander Scott, born in Ireland. The Ralstons and Scotts settled in Pennsylvania and were neighbors. When Senator Ralston was an eight-year-old lad his father and mother moved to Owen City, Ind., where they purchased and operated a large stock farm. In 1873, with a general panic, financial reverses came to the Ralston's, and they quit their country place. His parents were Presbyterians and Mr. Ralston was an elder for years.

In making his way from childhood to United States senator, Ralston was first farm boy, then butcher's helper, miner and school teacher. He taught for seven years. His education was obtained at country schools and at Valparaiso Normal school and Central Indiana Normal college, graduating there August 1, 1884. In 1886 he was admitted to the Indiana bar and December 30, 1889, married Miss Jennie Craven of Hendricks county. He hung out his attorney's shingle at Lebanon, Boone county.

Ralston was always a Democrat and identified with the history of the party in Indiana from the time he was old enough to vote. He held a number of smaller offices and was governor for the term of 1913-1917.

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

There was only one cloud in the happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Dillson Bangs. Despite their pretenses of ignoring it, the cloud persisted in making a spot that was otherwise clear. Dillson was not doing so well in business as he might. The dreams that had been theirs five years before, when they were married, had been of promotion and a home nearer the city.

"I don't care," Adeline said bravely; "we have our health and our love. We can get along without money." But Dillson knew she did care, and wondered again why it was other men were advanced when he remained stationary, a necessary but poorly paid unit in a large office.

"They just seem to take me for granted," he told himself as he hastened to catch the 8:30 train for the office. "I am like a piece of furniture, a serviceable piece that will stay right where it is until it is worn out." He turned to wave to Adeline and entered the station.

"They all told me," Adeline thought as she quitted the porch for the kitchen, "Dillson was the easy-going, pleasant sort who is content to let well enough alone. Well, he is kind and thoughtful, and that is more than some husbands." All the same, there had been rosy dreams, and five years were a long time.

On the train, Fernsworth March, raiser of mushrooms, sat down beside Dillson and a score of passengers grinned. Fernsworth had shifted his attentions and the young man was to be the victim. A talkative man who persisted in shouting and poking a skinny finger at the ribs of his listener, Fernsworth was regarded as a pest. There were some who insulted him, others who pretended to fall asleep, but Dillson's nature was not equal to either expedient. He suffered in silence and so won the respect and attentions of the other. Every morning Fernsworth laid for Dillson and talked mushrooms in his rasping voice.

"I'm going to take the 8 o'clock train," Dillson announced to Adeline. "It is the only way I can escape from that long-fingered, rib-jabbing pest, Fernsworth March." The schedule of the Bangs family was set ahead a half hour, and Dillson moved to town in company with a new set of commuters.

The young man was welcomed the first day by "General" Fred Tyson, a corpulent gentleman who combed his long hair straight back and made a specialty of gossip. Inside of three days "General" Tyson had appropriated Dillson for his own. This young man had heard none of the delectable stories that were going around. The "General" was the man to do the informing. In a droning voice and with many sly smiles and a smacking of lips the old fellow told his tales. In vain Dillson shifted his position, acted impatient, and pretended indifference.

"Listen," the General would say, "this is something that every resident of Millwater should know."

"I am afraid," the young husband ventured one day, "we'll have to set the clock another half hour ahead. I've just got to escape that old gossip before I bust him in the nose."

Adeline looked up in surprise. She had never heard Dillson talk like this.

The 7:30 train was populated with a different sort of crowd. Indeed, Dillson observed the general average of those on the 8 o'clock had been more alert than those of the 8:30, and now this earlier trainload was made up of brisk young men intent on reading their papers and getting to work. He leaned back in content. No one would bother him here.

So Dillson Bangs rode to work in peace. He breathed the earlier morning air with pleasure, absorbing some of its briskness. It was worth working a little harder and rising earlier to be rid of the pests that inhabited the later trains.

"Adeline," Dillson said one evening after he had returned from the city with an immense bouquet of roses, "this is an occasion. A peculiar and gratifying thing has happened." He was making the most of the announcement, reveling in the delight he saw growing in her eyes.

"You've been promoted!"

"Yes!" he shouted, then seized her and waltzed her around the room. "I have been promoted to a real job, and it is all on account of Fernsworth and the General."

"You see," he explained, "the boss said he regarded it as most unusual and promising that a young man should voluntarily report for work an hour earlier. That's what decided him."

The Paris Note Evident

Twillcord is the material par excellence for this classic frock. The right front of the dress is laid in plaits at the front edge, lapped on the left front and closed under an ornament. At the back the dress is laid in plaits over the under-arm seams. A round collar finishes the round neck, and edging the collar, as they finish the sleeves, are accordion plaited frills of novelty ribbon. Medium size requires 3⅞ yards 36-inch material.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1352. Sizes, 16 to 20 years and 34 to 44 inches bust. Price, 35 cents.

Reflects Youthful Spirit

Words cannot describe how charming this frock is developed in pongee silk and trimmed with one of the narrow colorful braids in Egyptian colors. The front is cut away at the center, underfaced and rolled with the convertible collar. Turn-back cuffs finish the long, full sleeves and the narrow belt is of self-material. Medium size requires 4½ yards 36-inch material.

Pictorial Review Dress No. 1613. Sizes 34 to 50 inches bust. Price 35 cents.

Beauty Chats

ANSWERED LETTERS

C. C. C., Violet, Reader—The formula for the eyelash tonic will be mailed you on receipt of a stamped, addressed envelope.

H. M. T., Betty B.—Your oily skin shows that your system is clogged and the skin is trying to relieve the condition. Drink more water and live on a more simple diet for a time.

Mary G.—You cannot prevent your brows from growing and it is evident that you are only making them thicker by constant shaving. Brush them so they will grow into a line, then they will not appear to be so heavy.

Brown Eyes, Curious, Worried, Valeria, Dolly, Mrs. T. R. B.—There is treatment, such as you mention, for destroying superfluous hair roots, but it has not been used long enough to state whether or not it is best for women to have it done that way. Until proven that this treatment does not injure the tissues, it is best for women to continue with the electric needle treatment, even though it is more tedious. If this is not possible, extract the coarser hairs by use of blunt end tweezers and bleach the finer hair with peroxide.

T. M. G., M. K. O., John, Anxious, E. C. C., S. L., Phyllis B.—A healing lotion for cases of pimples following a tendency to blackheads is made by mixing the following: Precipitate of sulphur, one drachm; tincture of camphor, one drachm; glycerine, one drachm, and rose water, four ounces. After cleaning the skin, apply this lotion to the pimples by saturating small bits of cotton, allowing them to remain on the pimples over night if possible.

Miss N. K.—I shall be glad to mail you the hair tonic formula on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope. It cannot be printed at this time.

D. L. G.—Consult the doctor about this fullness of the abdomen and tired feeling. The trouble may be due to a run-down system, but you will do better to get at the cause before trying to treat it yourself. Use a flesh brush on the roughened skin of the upper arms.

Anxious—For warts, try rubbing a little olive oil or plain salt into them every night. This treatment will often rid you of small warts. If the warts are larger, tie a piece of clean white silk around their bases, as they will often dry up this way and drop off. Never do anything with a wart on the face, as you may leave a scar. Go to a dermatologist.

Rebecca—Bobbing your hair has not destroyed its tendency to curl. You will find this out as it begins to grow again to any length. You can help by dampening the hair and brushing it around your fingers, training it into curling.

Tomorrow—Manicure Helps.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes in care of the "Beauty Chats" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Diet and Health

So-Called Bad Food Combinations, II.

TWO STARCHES

It is almost impossible to have a meal without having two starches. We nearly always have bread and potatoes, and other vegetables and nuts have starches in them.

The combination that is usually spoken against is two highly starchy foods, such as bread and potatoes or rice and potatoes. Here, again, the only question is not whether they will form harmful combinations, but whether the starches will be in excess in your meal.

If we have two starchy foods such as potatoes and rice at the same meal, then only one-half the quantity usually eaten of each should be taken. If that is done, take them both if you want to. However, only one highly starchy vegetable, when bread is also served, is the wiser plan.

Over-weight children and adults should limit their highly starchy foods to one form. If bread is eaten, then omit potatoes, and vice versa. Because, in order to reduce weight, the amounts of starches and sugars and fats are the ones that have to be cut down (and the proteins, too, if they have been eaten in excess).

Two Kinds of Fruit

Certainly you can eat two kinds of fruit together! The more the merrier. What is more delicious than a fruit salad made with all the different fruits you can find?

Vegetables and Fruits

Because fruit is very quickly digested (if thoroughly masticated), and vegetables require longer stomach digestion, some people have thought that fruit should not be taken at the same meal with vegetables. But, as we should have vegetables, and in generous amounts at two meals a day, that would mean we could not have fruits except at one meal when we had no vegetables.

Here, again, is the question of eating a little less of each, if both are served at the same meal. It does occasionally happen that fruit taken with other foods seems to disagree with some people while it does not disagree when taken alone. If you find on repeated attempts that this is true with you, then take your fruit alone—if you are sure it is not because you have eaten in excess or failed to masticate your foods thoroughly. This also applies to other combinations.

Now let me emphasize again for all the combinations of food that the danger is not that they will form any poisonous compounds in the stomach, with possible explosions, but that there is a tendency to overeat if there are many combinations served.

The daily menus should be rather simple, but varied from day to day and meal to meal to be sure they include the elements needed by the system. Don't forget thorough mastication. Don't expect your stomach to do the work of your teeth without growling more or less, and don't overburden it (unless you are too thin—then you have to accustom your stomach gradually to handle more food and you may have to stand its protests until it understands that you mean business and are going to make it do more work).

Perhaps you have an idea some combination is indigestible because at some time when you have had it you ate while you were mentally upset by anger, worry, sorrow, excitement, etc., and suffered from the result. The mental states do affect the digestion greatly. You have heard of the classical experiment of Cannon. He was watching, through the X-ray, the peristaltic movements of a cat who was contentedly eating. A dog, of perfectly good character but unknown to the cat, was ushered into the room. Immediately she stopped eating, arched her back in preparation for an attack, and the peristaltic movements of the intestines stopped.

That is what happens to us, probably, when we are mentally disturbed.

Side Talks

by Ruth Cameron

DANGEROUS BUSINESS

Don't meddle with other people's love affairs. Women are said to be born match-makers, but as you value your friendship and your peace of mind, don't do it.

That it is one of the most precarious of pastimes was brought to my mind anew the other day when a little bride came to me in tears with a story of an undeserved rebuke from a pair of ungrateful friends.

"They did all their courting on our porch," she said. "Why, Tom and I have sat inside or gone out walking evenings, when we didn't want to at all, just to let them have that porch to themselves. She has kept me at the telephone interminably," she went on, with rising indignation, "prattling about her Dicky-boy; and now that they have announced their eigagement, and I asked her why they didn't plan to be married in June and use our little lakeside camp for their honeymoon, she told me that they weren't discussing their plans with anyone and that when they wanted my advice they would ask for it."

I was sorry for the woebegone little woman, and it was the thought that, by telling her experience as a warning, I might same someone from a similar hurt that prompted me to write on this subject.

He Regrets His Confidences

For I am sure that wherever in the world lovers have loved and woman — romantic woman — has sympathized and tried to play the role of Cupid's understudy, this sort of thing has happened.

In the first flush of a newly found love, the recipient wants a confidant. He wants someone to whom he can picture the thousand and one charms of this wonderful girl whom he has discovered. He wants a responsive audience—and that's all! So long as you are willing to listen, and assent, and say nothing, all will go well. But love is a sensitive plant. If you touch it with too eager a finger it will curl away from you, leaving you rebuked and resentful. The memory of those rapturous confessions react unhappily on your confiding friend. He feels that he has been most indiscreet and absurdly sentimental and he cannot forgive you for having permitted him to make a fool of himself.

Advice Is Risky

But there is another and more serious side to this match-making game.

Sometimes the match-maker is a friend whose judgment is trusted and acted upon. I have in mind the case of a girl who has married a "rough diamond." I doubt if she ever really loved him. The man's personal magnetism was attractive to her, but hers is a prim, demure nature, and his frequent gaucheries make her wince visibly. But her closest friend, a match-making matron, urged her into the marriage.

"You don't want to be an old maid," she said, "and this may be your last chance. You'll be more unhappy without him than with him, and just think of your lonely old age if you don't marry."

And, although it is a digression, let me refute that last prod of the match-making matron.

Don't You Believe Her!

A single old age is by no means of necessity a lonely or a loveless one. Indeed, the chances against it are far better than in the case of an ill-advised marriage. The unmarried woman has limitless opportunities for service that will bring her unmeasured returns in love. I could name you a dozen spinsters who are the adored aunts—adopted or real—of more than one family, who have not days enough to divide among the homes that crave their visits, and whose own cozy bachelor quarters are a haven of rest to many a grateful, over-tired mother whom the spinster friend invites to be her guest.

"Abundance of men would never have been in love if they had never been entertained with any discourse of love," says La Rochefoucald.

Spare yourself the terrible responsibility of having fostered an unhappy marriage by your match-making "discourses of love."

And, remember, matches that are "made in heaven" will develop nicely without your help.

New Housekeeper—"How shall I treat my new hardwood floors?"

Answer—Send me a stamped and self-addressed envelope and I will send you a page of directions which I have just had printed on "The Care of Wood Floors." This page not only tells how to treat a new hardwood floor, but how to do over a worn hardwood floor, how to bleach a stained floor, remove old varnish—in fact, how to care for any kind of floor, whether hardwood or not. (I will also gladly send it to any other reader who sends a stamped envelope.)

Miss S.—"I would appreciate an article on the new sealing wax work if you would be so good as to write on this subject."

Answer—It is a coincidence that I was just preparing an article on this new kind of handiwork! It will appear in this column on June 28.

A Reader—"Kindly tell me how to keep moth out of a blue wool velour living-room suite. Our house is full of moths."

Answer—Sun the pieces frequently (not long enough to fade) and keep them free from dust by using a vacuum cleaner upholstery attachment (or by beating out of doors). Now and then go over the plush with a cloth dampened with gasoline. Gasoline is very inflammable, so do not use it near heat or flame. It will not stain the plush.

Engaged—"Can you suggest a novel way to announce my engagement? I would like to have some table favors that will 'break the news.'"

Answer—If I were you I would make small pink silk bags. Then I would paint (or paste) a picture of a cat on my visiting card; make slits on either side of the cat's neck, right through the cardboard, and run a piece of pink baby-ribbon through these slits for a collar for kitty. Also have this ribbon run through a corner of your fiance's visiting card. Put the two cards into the pink bag. When each guest opens her bag and pulls on the pink ribbon she will "let the cat out of the bag." I know of a clever young girl who originated this idea of announcing her engagement.

Mrs. E. R. M.—"Do you know of a recipe for French apple cake?"

Answer—I am sorry, but I do not. Let us hope that any reader friend who does will write it on a post card and mail it to me to publish here."

Home Problems

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young man of twenty-two and in love with a girl seven years my junior. When in my teens I turned my mind on invention and have been too busy to bother about love until I met the girl mentioned above. I love her so dearly that I would give up whatever is most precious to me for her. She in turn says that she loves me, but does not show it. She never does anything to please me, but always manages to go against my will. She lacks in that sweet, gentle temperament that girls usually have when in the presence of their lovers.

When I give her good advice she takes it for granted that I do not care for her, thinking that the more a man loves a girl the more he will allow her to do as she pleases. Still it hurts me very much to see her do anything that would be detrimental to her health and reputation. She has that phrase of "I don't care" on her lips when I try to have her act sensibly.

She does not want to see me with any girl, and although she tells me that she does not care, she makes an awful fuss afterward. She fears that someday I will leave her, which is true unless she changes. Her parents like me and her father tells me that she will change as she gets older. A man chooses a girl to make his life more happy and joyful, but the way she acts makes me very miserable.

What puzzles me is whether she really loves me and if she will really change as she grows older? Please give me your candid opinion.

DOUBTFUL AND PUZZLED

You are trying to live two lives, and you have no right to do so. Of course the little girl will change as she grows older and many of her wild ideas will become more tame. She ought to be let alone to work out her own character. If you interfere with her and tell her she is compromising herself she will grow self-conscious and unnatural. I am confident that all the guidance she needs will be given her by her parents. If you really love her, you will love her for the crazy things she does and your faith in her will make you forget the question of reputation because you will know her to be good and genuine.

There is a great chance, you know, that you have stayed away from girls so long that you do not get their point of view. Perhaps your ideas are old-fashioned and you expect the impossible of the girl you love.

My candid opinion is that you should close your mouth tightly when you want to deliver a sermon to her or correct her for something she has done. Probably you love her all the more because she is so self-willed. Continue to love with all your heart, sympathize and understand, and you will help develop the sweetness and womanliness of the girl's nature.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you kindly print agan the method of keeping the hair in curl with quince juice? Will it stay in curl if you use an iron on it? About how long will the curl stay in?

BOB.

Add a tablespoon of bruised quince seed to a pint of boiling water and allow the mixture to stand for several hours. Strain through a piece of muslin and add a few drops of essence of violet. Moisten the hair with this fluid and roll it on soft kid curlers, letting it stay all night. This is better than using an iron on damp hair. The length of time the curl will stay in depends a good deal on the adaptability of your hair to curling.

Poems That Live

NOW SLEEPS THE CRIMSON PETAL

Now sleeps the crimson petal, now the white;
Nor waves the cypress in the palace wall,
Nor links the gold fin in the porphyry font;
The firefly wakens; waken thou with me.

Now droops the milkwhite peacock like a ghost,
And like a ghost she glimmers on to me.

Now lies the Earth all Dantae to the stars,
And all thy heart lies open unto me.

Now slides the silent meteor on and leaves
A shining furrow, as thy thoughts in me.

Now folds the lily all her sweetness up,
And slips into the bosom of the lake;
So fold thyself, my dearest, thou, and slip
Into my bosom and be lost in me.
—Tennyson.

TO R. T. H. B.

Out of the night that covers me,
Black as the pit from pole to pole,
I thank whatever gods may be
For my unconquerable soul.
In the fell clutch of circumstance
I have not winced nor cried aloud.
Under the bludgeonings of chance
My head is bloody but unbowed.
Beyond this place of wrath and tears
Looms but the Horror of the shade,
And yet the menace of the years
Finds, and shall find, me unafraid.
It matters not how strait the gate,
How charged with punishments the scroll,
I am the master of my fate;
I am the captain of my soul.
—William Ernest Henley.

Sunshine Pellets

The bride's broom is the groom's doom.

The "makings" of an epidemic: A case of typhoid fever, a fly and a bottle of milk.

Many a man who tops his drive kops the money at the cup.

A troublesome thing is a varicose vein; an elastic stocking'll relieve the pain.

Quack doctors are created from nothing, and nothing from nothing leaves nothing.

The quickest way to stop the spread of malaria is to protect the mosquito from all fever patients.

Why send men to war when we can use typhoid germs for submarines, plague fleas for infantry and malaria mosquitoes for bombing planes?

Architects Rushing Work on Hotel Plans

Plans for the $400,000 hotel to be erected on the northeast corner of Glendale avenue and Broadway are rapidly nearing completion, according to Architect Arthur G. Lindley of 123 South Belmont street, who is associated with C. R. Selkirk of Los Angeles.

"We are working night and day on the plans," said Mr. Lindley Saturday. "We expect to have them ready by the middle of next week to take general contract bids. The contract will be made by the middle of July. We expect to have actual work under way before the first of August."

Circus Owner Victim Of $20,000 Gem Loss

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 26.—Loot valued at more than $20,000 was carried off early today by burglars who visited the home of Edward Shipp, internationally known circus owner and manager, while the family was away from home.

Included in the loot was a pair of ear rings estimated to be worth $6000.

The robbers also took $12,000 worth of diamonds.

BURBANK

BAPTIST PASTOR IS MAIN SPEAKER

Church Brotherhood Stages Well Attended Dinner For Its Members

The Brotherhood dinner of the Presbyterian church was held at 6:30 o'clock last night, at the church, with Dr. James A. Francis, pastor of the First Baptist church of Los Angeles, as the principal speaker.

The dinner was well attended and greatly enjoyed. Rev. Thomas E. Stevenson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, introduced the speaker, pointing out that an address by Dr. Francis was no ordinary event.

Last night was also the occasion of the annual banquet of the Women's club, at the Methodist church. The affair began at 6:30 o'clock.

Hold Last Concert

Tonight at the Thomas Edison school, the Burbank Choral club will give its last concert of the season, and an especially fine program is promised.

A drive for membership in Company 1 is now on, headed by Sergeants Flower and Welch of the regular army. The two weeks' camp this year will open near Monterey, July 8, and Captain Tillson assures those who are considering going that they will profit greatly thereby, in both pleasure and valuable instruction.

The symbol of "the owl in the black circle," in the form of a badge, has been awarded to nineteen Burbank Girl Scouts, for excellence in scholarship. The badges will be bestowed at the fall rally.

Only Scouts who have been such for at least a year were eligible and it so happened that there were but nineteen who could qualify, all of them measuring up to the required scholastic standing.

A second year's achievement will be indicated by a red line embroidered around the circle, a third by a white line, a fourth by a blue. The badge is worn on the left sleeve of the uniform. Following are the Burbank girls so honored:

Margaret Wood, Alberta Swall, Emily Bossuet, Pauline Bossuet, Victoria Ackerley, Virginia Vance, Louise Wellington, Marguerite Hilton, Madeline Gage, Jeannette Gage, Mildred Scher, Katharine Hough, Jacqueline McDonald, Leona Sprinkle, Neoma Sprinkle, Lillian Lewis, Cecilia Mae Fischer, Dorothy Sprouls, Frances Brown.

Back from Camp

The Burbank Girl Scouts have returned from Seaview camp, near Santa Monica, after enjoying a delightful week there, chaperoned by Mrs. Diss, Mrs. Foster, Miss Diss and Miss Smith. The party consisted of forty-five, including the girls and their friends. The canyon where they camped is reported to be heavily wooded and located in the uplands about half a mile from the beach. Activities were divided between ocean and hills.

The eight Burbank boys who left last Monday, June 18, for the Y. M. C. A. camp at Catalina Island, are still there. They will return June 28. Those in the party are Rex Griswold, Code Morgan, William Clemow, Carl Paul, Ray Proctor, Burton Dilley, Charles Weber and Jack Major.

Mrs. A. S. Nicholson is in Spokane, Wash., visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bliss. She will return in about a month.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ludlow are vacationing in the High Sierras.

Miss M. Mueller, manager of the Burbank hotel, had as recent guests Mrs. H. C. Jaeger and son, from Hemet; S. F. Hamilton, F. A. Orcott and W. J. Lock, from Grand View, Wash., and R. A. Dickey from Selina, Kan.

E. L. Dort, chief clerk of the public utility office, city hall, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation, which he is spending in several short trips with his family.

LA CRESCENTA

SOCIAL LEADERS AS PATRONESSES

Party at Seymour Thomas Home Is Assured of Rousing Success

The garden party to be given at "Cuddle Doon," the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Thomas, on Thursday of this week, from3 to 7 p. m., is promising to be quite a success from all standpoints.

Prominent Pasadenans and Los Angelenos are patronesses, those of Pasadena being Mesdames Ed F. Robbins, Plimy Watson, Charles S. Eaton, E. M. Dickey, and Mrs. Scales and Mrs. Howard of Flintridge. Those of Los Angeles are Mesdames Cosmo Morgan, Grenville Braman, John P. Jones, Roy Jones, Hansen Moore and Maud Thomas. The local patronesses, of Tujunga, are Mrs. Steven McGroarty, Marshall Hartranft, Waterman, and Mrs. Richard Dewey of La Canada.

The following La Crescenta ladies are patronesses: Mesdames Pritchard, Harvey Bissell, George Dunlop, Waltell, Ed Nettleton, Louis Janvirs, Gertrude Drennan, Fred Anderson, Mark Collins, J. C. Martin, C. E. Culberson, R. Tritt, C. Howard C. A. Haskins, A. W. Brone, Moog, Tom Minford, E. Bennett, T. O. Potts, George Wellington, Fred Pinkus, Louisa Smith, Glen Pesk, Robert Wildback, Mary R. Darrow and Seymour Thomas.

Excellent Program

A splendid program has been arranged, on which there will be vocal numbers by Miss Laurelle Cadmers of Long Beach and Sierra Madre, accompanied by Fennel Lorraine of Long Beach; Miss Minot of Los Angeles; Miss Hauber of La Crescenta; Mr. and Mrs. Cavanagh of Glendale; Mrs. Tritt of La Crescenta will give a violin number, and the dancing numbers will be presented by Miss Frances Morgan of Tujunga and Cumnock School of Expression, Elizabeth Talbot-Martin of La Crescenta and Mrs. Nanna Woods and pupils of Glendale.

Harry James, well-known monologist, of Glendale, will give some of his famous readings. Sir Henry Sharpe of England and India will speak on the "Bombay Babu," and, having resided thirty-five years in that country, his should be a most interesting talk.

Of course the famous Salon canvases by Seymour Thomas will be on exhibition, and will prove interesting to all visitors. Other numbers no doubt will be added to the program as soon as different artists can be heard from, and these will be given at a later date.

Bishop Johnson and Bishop Stevens have promised to be present, and Mr. Haskell will act as master of ceremonies.

The beautiful little posters made by Seymour Thomas to advertise the party will be auctioned off by an expert auctioneer who has promised to be present.

Home-made jellies, jams, cakes, candies and other edibles will be on sale. Mrs. Fred Anderson and Mrs. Culberson will have charge of a wild goose grab bag, assisted by Miss Jannette Culberson and Mr. Frank Anderson, who has just arrived from Evanston, Ill. There will also be small fancywork articles for sale, and ice cream.

Tea, and the exhibition of Mr. Thomas' pictures are incuded in the price of admission of 50 cents.

Go to Scout Camp

Lawrence Potter and Harold Swanson will leave this week with other Scout Patrols to prepare the camping grounds at Arrowhead lake, for the Burbank, Glendale, Tujunga, Eagle Rock, Sunland and La Crescenta Boy Scouts. These Patrol Scouts will spend four days at camp, returning home the latter part of this week, but will return to the camp with the La Crescenta division, which will leave here about July 20, to be gone 10 days.

La Crescenta fire department, headed by Chief Young helped fight the brush fire in Verdugo Woodlands yesterday.

Mr. Dwyer, who owns the grocery store situated at 104 West Honolulu, is having the living quarters in the real of the shop remodelled and the outside reboarded.

Ben Card and family, of Wilmington, visited on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Card, on Florencita drive.

Mrs. Swain of Sparr Heights entertained the weekly health class at her home, Saturday evening. After the class, the ladies were joined by their husbands and a farewell party held for Mrs. Harcourt and Mrs. Alma Austen, who have moved to the city.

Give Dancing Party

Miss Marion Keith of Altura avenue entertained for the local high school graduates with a party and small dance. The home was attractively decorated in yellow and white, with daisies of these colors for floral decorations. Games of all kinds were enjoyed till supper, after which the guests danced. In Mrs. Keith's absence, on account of her recent illness, Mrs. Jessen of Glendale chaperoned the party, and assisted Miss Keith in entertaining her guests.

Those present of the younger set were Janet Culberson, Jessie Conlin, Sarah Conlin Lorine Czerniski, Dorothy Keefer, Bessie Maxwell, Miss Margaret Hauber, Edith Busch, Ruth Leary Edith Randolph. Guests from out of town were Miss Betty Morrison, of Glendale; Carolyn Erheart and Miss Martin, of Los Angeles; Miss Berlanger, from Montrose; Robert Kelso, Don Hendrix, Arthur Crowell, Henry Welland, Ted Burkey, Herbert Engell, Francis Foy, Schofield Koppel, Dean Culberson, Claxton Joury and Waltz Joury, and from outside points were present Mr. Shearman and Ernest Erheart, of Los Angeles, and Theodore Belanger of Montrose.

La Crescenta was a busy place yesterday, for visitors were many, owing to the continuous half-hour service maintained on the Glendale and Montrose railroad from 10:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., on account of the K. C. picnic held in Verdugo park.

Keep Kiddies At Home
Plan For Their Play
How About 'Hosing Off'?
The President's Speeches

By Gil A. Cowan

Keep the kiddies at home! Provide for their play in your own back yards! Make life interesting around the house or in the same block!

Those are not original ideas, at all. They are simply suggestions for Comment and we think a great deal of them when we glance at the frightful toll taken by motor cars among children of the street.

It is not difficult to arrange sand boxes or slides or play houses. Regarding the latter we cannot help but remember the happy thought Jimmie Horn and Cleo Ridgely had for their children, Jack and June, when they constructed a play-house in the yard of their home on Valley View road.

And away out in the hills of Amador county at Sutter Creek one Sunday afternoon we found two boys enjoying a good old-fashioned rope swing. They were just as contented with that and a bat and ball as though they were the sons of millionaires riding around the country in a limousine.

This is the first week of vacation and in the Community Service program it is called "Home Play Week". Every householder can have a share in the good work to be accomplished by fixing some one thing for the kiddies in the rear yard, away from the street, to interest them during the summer months.

When I was a boy, to be a bit reminiscent, a merry-go-round was installed and two pins a ride charged for the pleasure of being given that dizzy feeling. The neighbor kids liked the idea. We also had a circus ground with trapeze, ring, borrowed pony and a miniature city. Then we staged a theatrical production in Johnny's back yard, organized a band and finally blossomed out into a home talent theatrical troupe.

Believe me, it was fun and as soon as we developed business acumen and talent sufficient for recognition we became a part of the life of the community. It's great stuff, this playing around home, for it develops inventive genius and creates ability.

For boys on the farm there are plenty of chores and little girls can busy themselves about the yard by feeding the chickens, gathering eggs or chasing butterflies, but the youngsters of Glendale need a little material with which to work out their own salvation.

A tent is a good starter, where they can pretend they are camping out. A few boards will give them something to erect seats and on a small stage they can play show or conduct a mud pie factory or do something more constructive.

One of the greatest pleasures the tots can have here is to be allowed the privilege of "hosing off" on a hot afternoon. Give them bathing suits and the use of a garden hose and the fun begins. We watched Nathan Rigdon's boy entertain friends day after day several years ago in such a manner. And it impressed us as a great stunt, for it saved him the job of having the lawn sprinkled.

Experts advise against freak equipment and there is no question but what such playthings as are home made are more satisfactory than anything you can buy. In the evenings of these long days help the kiddies arrange something for themselves. Watch their performances and give them a cheer when they do something clever. It may be the making of them.

President Harding is getting west and wester day by day. He will soon be in our midst. The visit of the nation's chief executive to California will be an auspicious event, and it is good to note that he "is not wedded irrevocably to any particular method" of showing America's willingness to embrace the principles of international arbitration.

There is no question but what the president is "solid" on the World Court idea. Yet there is a grave question that he can put it over to the people. Indeed, his western speeches will have domestic questions as their keynote and these will meet popular approval.

The needs of these United States of ours are paramount to the needs of Europe. The Republican party should recognize this fact in the preparation of a platform for 1924. A few new planks are needed in the stage which has been occupied by Warren Harding.

EAGLE ROCK

GRADUATE GIVEN COLLEGE DEGREE

Student Confined to Home By Illness, Awarded Occidental Honors

Miss Inez Veysey, a graduate of the Central school, some years back, had the recent honor of a Master of Arts degree from Occidental college conferred upon her, at her home on Linden way, where she has been very ill.

Miss Veysey's host of friends in the community are all happy, indeed, over the singular honor that has been accorded this brilliant scholar and they hope that she will soon have fully recovered from her serious illness.

Expect "Afterglow"

Dr. J. C. Shedd, professor of physics at Occidental college and an eminent authority on meteorology, believes that within a week or two we may see in the Los Angeles skies evidences of the recent eruption of Mt. Etna, on the Isle of Sicily, when thousands of tons of minute dust particles were hurled miles into the air.

"I recall a similar phenomenon," said Dr. Shedd. "Some years back, when an active volcano on the Island of Borneo burst into eruption, I was in Persia and observed the afterglow very plainly. It continued to be visible for ten months."

Dr. Ford Carpenter, former head of the weather bureau, agrees with Dr. Shedd, recalling the case of Krakatau, when the afterglow was visible around the world and lasted nearly a year.

Dr. J. F. Smiley, professor of geology at Occidental college, and a student of the after-effects of volcanic eruptions, likewise agrees with Dr. Shedd.

So Southern Californians can prepare to witness a repetition of this amazing phenomenon that follows volcanic eruptions.

Bible Classes Start

Classes in the Presbyterian Bible school begin Monday, July 2, with the following instructional staff: Mrs. A. D. Knox, beginners; Mrs. W. I. Ong, primary; Mrs. Brush, junior boys; Miss Garden, junior girls; Mrs. Leech, superintendent.

Miss Florence Kenworthy and Carol Hull, members of the Occidental college graduating class, were married on Saturday, June 23, following the commencement exercises. Mr. Hull was president of the class.

Dr. and Mrs. E. McKee, of Kenilworth and Las Flores avenues, are among Eagle Rock's newcomers. Dr. McKee was for some years a practicing physician in Oklahoma and has for the past three years been on the staff of the Methodist hospital, Los Angeles. He is an X-ray specialist with years of training and practice.

Mrs. A. C. Fiske, of Castle avenue, is entertaining Miss Dorothy Ellis from Denver.

Rev. F. E. Knopf has returned from Deep Springs, Inyo county, where he has been teaching Latin in a boys' school.

The girls of the intermediate class, Presbyterian Sunday school, will camp at Pacific Palisades this summer, with Miss Mary Johnson as their leader.

Hal Baly has sold his house at 151 Eddy avenue.

Board of Education Will Receive Bids

Bids for the construction of the addition to the Broadway school are scheduled to be received tonight at 107 South Brand boulevard by the Board of Education. Plans were prepared by Architect Arthur G. Lindley of 123 South Belmont street.

The budget adopted before the $500,000 bond issue provided for a total expenditure at this school of $32,650. This was itemized as follows: Four class rooms, $28,000; additional sanitary fixtures, $800; additional furniture, $1600; piping grounds, $200; fences, $250; temporary bungalow, $1800.
